Senior Citizens Leader Raps City for Neglecting the Elderly

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The City Council and staff in Daly City came in for a severe tongue-lashing from an elderly resident who chaged they had not "done anything for senior citizens (in Daly City) for the last 10 years."

Julius Castellan, head of the city's Nutrition Program and active in various welfare and senior citizen movements, carried on a running argument with Mayor McRobert Stewart and Councilman Victor Kyriakis over alleged lack of cooperation on the part of the city administration to help the community's needy and elderly citizens.

Both Stewart and Kyriakis disputed Castellan's claims, pointing out several programs under way to aid seniors — including the expansion of the Lincoln Park Clubhouse to facilitate Castellan's nutrition program and funds allocated to this same program to secure transportation for senior citizens wanting to participate in the free lunch program.

Castellan's outburst came during a public hearing on the Daly City Citizens Advisory Housing Committee report, which has been before one city agency or another for several months.

If the council and staff were sincere in their efforts to help the low-income citizens of the city why didn't they apply for some of the housing money available in the county, Castellan asked?

"Right now, there is money (to secure) 100 (low income) homes in San Mateo County," Castellan claimed.

This could not be confirmed by county officials immediately, a City Hall spokesman said after the meeting.

Another critic of the amendments to the original committee recommendations was Steve Salkind, vice-chairman of the Advisory Housing Committee.

Salkind said his fellow committee members had strongly recommended establishment of a Housing Commission — a body that would be directly responsible to the council and not just the city staff.

Neither Kyriakis nor Councilman Anthony Giammona could see the advantage of setting up another commission, pointing to the fact that such commissions were still only advisory bodies that had to answer to the council.

Councilman Bill Schumacher said he favored holding the line on commissions.

"The less commissions, the better" he said.

But Salkind argued a fully empowered Commission could keep things from boiling over as they had during redevelopment talks in the eastern sector of the city last year.

The housing study was conducted over a two year period and was charged with studying demographic data, housing needs, various obstacles to meeting these goals and submitting policy recommendations.

Heading up the nine member committee was Edward Eastman.

The report was completed and turned over to the Planning Commission on Feb. 5, 1973.

Shortly thereafter the committee was dissolved.

City Manager David Rowe, after studying the report, submitted his staff recommendations. These included establishment of a master agency encompassing, housing, redevelopment and planning.

Rowe has met opposition to his "master agency" plan from Councilman Paul Hupf since its intruduction some two months ago.

During budget talks, Rowe asked that approximately $96,000 be shifted into the new agency.

Hupf voted for the budget, but expressed reluctance to accept the new agency, noting that any hiring or salary matters pertaining to Rowe's proposed agency come back before the council for final approval.

Rowe explained that part of the $96,000 already is being spent — in planning and redevelopment departments.

Present staffs likely would be used, with the hiring of two new persons.

These would include a director of the new agency and a head of the "Advance Planning and Research Section."

More monies are expected to come from the federal government's Department of Housing and Urban Development.

James H. Price, area director of HUD, informed Rowe earlier this month that $31,000 a year would be made available for at least the next three years for a "Comprehensive Planning Assistance Program."

This program includes Rowe's Department of Community Development," the umbrella agency for planning, redevelopment, housing and research for the city.

So far, the council majority has given Rowe the green light for all the projects.

The housing report was accepted by the council Monday, with Hupf commenting that while he supported the concepts of the report, he "doesn't see how the concepts can be implemented."

Mary's Help Hospital

Expansion Plans Unveiled

Plans for a $15 million renovation and expansion project at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City have been unveiled.

Sister Florence Urbine, D.C., president of the hospital's Board of Directors, said the expansion project is being undertaken to alleviate overcrowded conditions at the hospital, as well as to provide for the future needs of health care consumers.

Sister Florence said virtually all ancillary and inpatient service departments will be affected to some degree by the expansion project.

The need to renovate and expand facilities such as the laboratory, radiology, and emergency departments is a direct result of dramatic increases in patient load that Mary's Help Hospital has experienced in the past several years. Sister Florence cited as an example, the 24-hour emergency room service offered by the hospital. Since 1968, the number of visits to the department has increased from 16,000 to almost 27,000 in 1973.

This increase in outpatient load is consistent with a nationwide trend towards greater utilization of outpatient services as an alternative to hospitalization, according to Sister.

Increasing admissions and a rise in the number of surgeries performed have further taxed the hospital's facilities. "These trends are being analyzed and expansion priorities are presently being established," Sister Florence said.

The plans call for considerable remodeling within the existing structure to allow for more efficient and economical health care delivery. In addition to remodeling and new construction, more parking space is being planned.

Sister Florence pointed out that the new medical office building to be built north of the hospital is being privately financed and is not a part of the expansion project. Construction of the medical office building is scheduled to begin soon.

The expansion program will be funded by a combination of fund-raising and long-term financing, Sister Florence explained. A voluntary capital fund drive has been launched by civic and business leaders who have formed an Expansion Fund Executive Committee.

Benjamin H. Swig, well known San Francisco hotelier and philanthropist, will be general chairman of the Mary's Help Hospital Expansion Fund.

"Throughout my long association with Mary's Help, I have watched the demands for health care services grow, especially in the hospital's outpatient services," Swig said. "I am convinced that there is no alternative but to expand now if Mary's Help Hospital is to continue its tradition of excellence in providing health care," Swig declared.

Swig, owner of the Fairmont Hotel, has been associated with Mary's Help Hospital for several years and was active in the campaign to build the existing structure. He has served on the Community Advisory Board since its inception and is a member of the board's finance committee. Swig said the campaign executive committee's goal is to raise $5 million through an immediate capital fund campaign and an ongoing deferred gift program.

Serving with Swig on the Executive Committee are: Gerson Bakar, Henry "Bud" Bostwick, Mrs. Ralph K. Davies, Brig. Gen. Arthur H. Frye, Jr., Jack Hickey, Thomas J. Hunter, Robert L. Follett, Edward M. King, Edmund T. King, Gen. Andrew Lolli, F. D. Minucciani, Frank Pacelli, W. C. Scollin, Charles Turner and Carl Ward.

Grant to Finance Consolidation Of N. County Jail Facilities

A $500,000 grant has been awarded San Mateo County to help finance consolidation of jail facilities in the North County and to help make streets safer from crime.

The unique two-part project, funded by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA), is the first of its kind to be started in California.

About half the grant, or $250,000, will fund a project designed to reduce crime called Citizens Active Participation Through Utilization of Relevant Education (CAPTURE).

San Mateo Police Chief J. L. Coppock, appointed project director of CAPTURE, said the plan is a "grass roots" approach to reduce crime in the County's 19 cities through citizen participation.

Under the CAPTURE plan, citizens might also replace police officers in programs designed to educate the public on how to better protect themselves from crime.

Hopefully, Coppock added, the CAPTURE project will solicit numerous volunteers throughout the county to assist in the plan. Many individuals in the past have approached police departments and asked "How can we help?" Coppock said.

The project, he added, "will be a vehicle" in which those citizens can actively assist in crime prevention.

The other half of the $500,000 federal grant will fund the program designed to change jailing procedures on persons arrested in San Mateo County.

Included will be a consolidation of jail facilities in North San Mateo County. Under the plan, prisoners arrested in Daly City, San Bruno, Pacifica and South San Francisco, will all be held at the Daly City Police Department jail. The prisoners will all be incarcerated at the Daly City jail until, and if, they eventually transferred to the county jail in Redwood City.

But in addition to jail consolidation, the project will also expand programs to release first time prisoners on their own recognizance, said County Manager M. D. Tarshes.

See Related Story Page 19

Tarshes said studies have revealed that 98 per cent of the persons released on their own recognizance "do make their appearance in court as often as though they were released on bail."

The plan will "ensure people are not held in jail just because they can't raise bail," Tarshes said. The plan serves a dual purpose of reducing costs to the public of incarcerating prisoners in jail, he added.

Serramonte Principal Is Named

J. Wayne Kurlak, 39, has been named principal of Serramonte High School by the Jefferson Union High School Board of Trustees.

Kurlak, an assistant principal at North Salinas High School the past five years, assumes the position Aug. 1.

His selection comes as the school district prepares to evaluate a recent extensive report outlining the problems and needs of Serramonte. The school board has scheduled a special study session Aug. 27 at 8 p.m. at Serramonte on the report.

Kurlak was chosen from a total of 35 applicants. Thirteen were interviewed by a district screening committee, and three finalists were recommended to the board.

The new principal is a graduate of the University of Southern California, where he received a bachelor of science degree in Telecommunications Language Arts in 1958 and a master of science degree in Educational Administration in 1961.

Kurlak replaces Anthony Trujillo, who was principal for two years. Trujillo is heading for Miami, Florida on a Rockefeller Fellowship.

Among Kurlak's initial duties will be to familiarize himself with the 87-page Serramonte needs assessment report, carried out as part of a Planning, Programming, Budgeting System (PPBS) pilot project.

The report, which listed 17 major areas of concerns at the school, was established through surveys and input of parents, students, staff, and other members of the community. Each of the 17 concerns included the facts of

No Ballot Proposal to Increase Supervisors

There will be no proposal on the Nov. 5 general election ballot to increase the membership of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors or to have members of the board elected by district.

The Committee for the District Election of Supervisors failed to secure the required 21,000 signatures on an initiative petition seeking to place the proposed County Charter amendment on the ballot.

Deadline for filing of the petition was last Friday if it were to qualify for the November ballot. The committee reported they had only about one-half of the necessary signatures.

However, the committee reported last week when it became evident that the petition would not qualify that it will continue the initiative effort in hopes of having the proposals placed on the ballot in next March's school district elections.

The initiate proposal would have the county's voters decide a charter amendment which would increase the membership on the Board of Supervisors from five to seven, with members to be elected by district rather than at large.

Pacifican Held for Doors Theft

San Jose police Sunday arrested Donald William McLean, 46, of Pacifica on warrants issued by Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage charging him with stealing 11 sets of bronze doors from a Colma cemetery earlier this month.

Police spotted McClean on a San Jose sidewalk about 9 p.m. last Sunday, Savage said.

"He's well known to police in that city," Savage said.

McLean is accused of stealing the ornate bronze doors from several family crypts at the Home of Peace Cemetery in Colma and of selling them to two scrap dealers in San Jose.

One of the scrap dealers became suspicious and called police.

The other already had started cutting up the expensive doors when police arrived.

Value of the stolen doors — now returned to the cemetery — has ranged from $35,000 to $75,000.

All agree that the doors are irreplacable. They were made at the turn of the century and contain excellent filigree work — work not easily duplicated, experts say.

Meanwhile, a second man wanted in connection with the thefts, Harold Dean Menzies, of San Jose, remains at large.

Savage predicts his arrest "is imminent."

The chief also said a third man soon will be named andsa warrant issued for his arrest in the incident.

Explosion Hits Westlake Area

A pre-dawn explosion rocked the Westlake district of Daly City Monday morning and drove a family of four into the streets.

Cause of the explosion and fire in the garage of John Lutz at 417 Southgate Ave. is still under investigation by fire marshals and Pacific Gas & Electric Company personnel this morning, according to battalion chief Wayne Alexander.

Chief Alexander said the explosion hit the home about 4:46 a.m.

Force of the explosion was so great it blew out a heavy garage door and shot wood fragments into walls outside the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lutz and their two teen-aged children — a boy and girl — ran from the house after the garage erupted in fire.

Lutz said he had smelled gas in the garage two weeks ago and had reported it to the utility company, Alexander said.

Heavy fire damage was reported to the garage, kitchen and hallway areas of the home.

There was considerable smoke damage throughout the house, Alexander said.

Some 24 hours before the Southgate Avenue explosion-fire, a home at 289 Skyline Drive suffered some $10,000 damage in a fire that apparently started from a cigarette, Alexander said.

Shortly before 6 a.m. Sunday, firemen were called to the home of Gino Bruno to battle a blaze that fire investigators say started in the front bedroom of the home.

Fire damage was reported to the front bedroom, hallway, bathroom, with heavy smoke damage throughout the single family dwelling, Alexander said.

No one was hurt in either fire, Alexander.

Daly City will assume control of police and fire protection on San Bruno Mountain and in the multi-million dollar Crocker Industrial Park adjacent to Brisbane on Jan. 1, 1975.

Monday, the city council unanimously agreed to a contract that will pay the city some $109,000 for calendar year 1975 and $115,000 for the following year of a two-year contract with Crocker

Councilman Guardino Resigns Brisbane Post

Brisbane councilman and former mayor Dr. S. J. Guardino Monday suddenly resigned his council post during a heated debate over his residency.

One council faction claimed Guardino had moved out of Brisbane to Belmont last June.

Guardino said this was not true that he was, in fact, still sleeping in Brisbane one night a week and that he still had his physician's practice and his home in that bayside city.

In the more than five years since he was elected to the council in 1968, Guardino has found himself the center of controversy for his comments on various issues coming before the council.

Most recent turmoil to rock Brisbane was the loss of the lucrative police-fire safety services contract for the Guadalupe Municipal Improvement District (Crocker Industrial Park) which constituted some 13 per cent of the city's total operating budget.

Guardino's term would have expired in March 1976.

With his sudden resignation before them, the four remaining members of the council — Mayor Anja Miller, councilmen Paul Goercke, Arthur Montenegro and Joe Thompson — split their vote evenly for appointment of Jeannine Hodge for councilwoman, runnerup by only one vote to Thompson in last March's municipal elections. oercke and Montenegr voted for appointment and Mayor Miller and Thompson voted against.

The council next passed a resolution putting the election for the newly created vacancy on the November general election ballot.

A scramble for the seat was expected.

City Atty. David Friedenberg said during Monday's meeting that he was prepared to offer an opinion on Guardino's residency and qualifications to remain on the council.

It was expected Friedenberg would have contended Guardino was not, in his opinion, a bonafide resident inasmuch as he spent only one night a week in Brisbane and the other six in Belmont.

In other action Monday, the City Council appointed Clark Smithson, former assistant City Manager of Lafayette, to the post of city manager-clerk of Brisbane.

The post pays $18,000 annually, plus $2,000 as director of planning duties, plus $100 per month car allowances.

It was learned Smithson had been receiving a salary in excess of $22,000 annually in Lafayette.

the problem, its level of criticality, the date it should be resolved and suggested solutions.

The concerns included class scheduling, attendance, violence, vandalism, student-teacher relations, curriculum, and racial relations.

Some highlights of the report:

—Scheduling of classes is not appropriate for all students. It said some students don't function well with modular scheduling, and that students who do not should be allowed to move to a traditionally scheduled school.

—Student attendance is erratic and the system of keeping attendance is inconsistent. The report encouraged Serramonte to select the best system of keeping attendance and staying with it. It said the problems of class "cuts" was being reduced, and called for a developed policy on cutting to be implemented by the first school day this Fall.

—There is an inordinate amount of violence, vandalism, and litter on campus. It was proposed that an initial program on this matter be instituted by September. The report said the need would not be resolved until 85 per cent of the students and faculty will feel safe; funds spent to repair vandalism damages are reduced by at least 75 per cent, and when halls look the same at the end of the day as at the beginning.

—The curriculum does not meet the educational needs of the student body. The report stated a program to improve reading should be implemented by September, and that average reading scores be improved by 10 per cent until all students can read at least at an eighth grade level by graduation.

—There is a disagreement about discipline standards and control, it said, with adults feeling more strongly than students that the school is not "strict" enough. The report noted that disruption in hallways is affecting classroom operation, and that there is an inconsistency in enforcement of school rules. Among the solutions recommended were an official faculty and student grievance committee.

—The school building is not suited for the educational program at Serramonte. It said the problems would not be resolved until most classes are scheduled in rooms of appropriate size and attractiveness, and student congregation areas are not overcrowded. The report called for new construction to begin by September 1975.

—There is a need for more positive action to be taken to meet racial problems and needs! It said all involved in the survey agreed that Serramonte is not helping students cope with life, nor providing students with a broad education. The report said an Affirmative Action Program should be developed by 1975.

The PPBS project is a planning system for the school district. By grouping all the key problems and needs together, it affords the district the opportunity to plan its budget and programs with all the important areas of concern in mind, instead of having to deal with each matter separately.

Although this report is based on Serramonte, Asst. Supt. of Instruction Ernest Ribera said the needs shown are similar to other schools in the district.

The question now is: "What will become of this report and all its recommendations and criticisms?" The August 27 meeting is the first step as the Board of Trustees hopes to look for an answer. And as board member Ruth Boudinot noted when the report was officially presented to the trustees, "We need to counter any community concern that it will be just another piece of paper."

Mountain

Monday agreed to continue services to the area for $10,000 per month.

Loss of the contract will cost Brisbane more than $100,000 annually — 13 per cent of its total budget — and will likely necessitate the laying off of about six city employes.

Daly City was expected to almost immediately hire three firemen, needed to bolster manpower citywide, but will not purchase new fire equipment at this time.

Fire Chief Keith Schrock said his department was "ready and able" to provide needed services to the industrial park and mountain.

"If we weren't, I'd be the first to contest this contract," Schrock said.

Before the meeting, acting Police Chief David Hansen said patrolling of both areas "fits into the scope of our plans nicely."

Two persons attending the council meeting objected to the contract.

Lawrence Murray, one-time candidate for the council, asked if the city was in business to make money or if they were interested in serving the people.

"If the city of La Honda approached the city (for fire protection) would we contract with them?" Murray asked.

(La Honda is in the southern section of the county far removed from Daly City, while San Bruno Mountain holdings are contiguous to the city.)

Edwin Roesch, of 150 Ardendale, in the Southern Hills section of Daly City, said he was speaking for "a number of our residents" when he complained about poor police and fire service in his neighborhood.

He protested that fire and police services in the Southern Hills area would be spread thin when the Crocker Industrial Park is contracted.

Fire Hits Westlake Home

A fire which apparently started in a defective television set in a child's bedroom in the Westlake Section of Daly City caused an estimated $20,000 damage to the home of Hert Suvaco shortly after noon Monday.

Suvaco, his wife and two children escaped the flames without injury.

Battalion Chief Lyle Church said the fire apparently started in a television set in a rear bedroom.

Investigators found two blown 30 amp fuses after the fire was out, Church said.

The blaze roared through the Suvaco home at 97 Terrace Ave., about 12:22 p.m., Church said.

Suvaco and his wife were downstairs when the fire started.

He attempted to extinguish the fire with a garden hose, while his wife escorted the children — ages five and nine — from the home and called firemen.

It was the third major fire in the Westlake section of the city in the past three days.

An explosion and fire in a Southgate Avenue home Monday morning was still under investigation today by fire officials and PG&E investigators.

Escaped Mental Patient Held

An escaped mental patient who fled Patton State Hospital near San Bernardino two months ago was apprehended in Brisbane Sunday noon following a high speed chase through narrow city streets.

Officer Al Duerson said Charles Edward Boggs, who reported was committed to the state hospital for attempted murder, hit speeds in excess of 75 miles per hour through the downtown area of the small bayside city.

"At one point he almost hit a couple of kids, not to mention several parked cars," Duerson said.

Duerson managed to arrest the man after he skidded out of control and his motor stopped several blocks from where the chase began — in front of the city's police station.

Boggs was driving a car he allegedly stole in San Francisco, Duerson said.

He was jailed in Redwood City pending release to authorities in Southern California.

Two Men Held As Suspects in Double Slaying

Two young San Francisco men are in San Mateo County jail last week charged with the execution murder of a couple who were shot and left beside Skyline Boulevard west of Hillsborough July 11.

William D. Trent, 27, was booked at the jail Thursday afternoon, having been in custody in San Francisco Since the following Friday as a parole violator.

Ronald O. Haynes, 19, was taken into custody shortly before 8 p.m. Thursday at the Daly City home of his parents. Police said that Haynes was not armed and did not offer any resistance.

Both suspects, each charged with two counts of murder in the slaying of Gerald Humphrey, 19, and his girl friend, Sandra Ruth Mosardo, 18, were to be arraigned in Central District Municipal Court today.

Bail on each of the defendants was set at $500,000 by Municipal Court Judge Alan J. Haverty.

Sheriff's Insp. Rudy Siemssen and Detective Leonard Gordon said the double murder resulted from a "drug ripoff", with Humphrey and the Mosardo woman suspected of having taken a quantity of heroin and $125 cash.

As it turned out, the investigators reported, the victims were not involved in the ripoff.

It is believed, Siemssen said, that the victims, along with the woman's six-month-old son, were picked up at their apartment in San Francisco the night of July 10. The baby was abandoned on the doorstep of a San Francisco home and the couple driven to the point off Skyline Boulevard where they were ordered out of the car and shot.

Each victim had two .22 caliber bullet wounds in the head, the investigators reported. Humphrey was dead at the scene and the Mosardo woman died later in the day at Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo.

Siemssen and Gordon reported that Trent's car, containing several balloons of heroin, was found parked in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco. Also recovered and taken as evidence is a .22 caliber rifle, the investigators said.

Gordon reported that Daly City police were requested to check for Haynes at his parents home, 145 Westlake Ave., after an envelope with that address was found in Haynes's vacated San Francisco apartment. Haynes had been staying with a girl friend in a motel. Police were waiting at the home when he arrived to visit his parents Thursday night.

Siemssen said that a third man is being sought for questioning in the case, but that no warrant has been issued for him.

Two Held For Thefts In Colma

Broadmoor police arrested two North County men on burglary charges after they allegedly broke into an office building at the Greek Orthodox Memorial Park Cemetery in Colma.

Arrested were Marco Simonetti, 20, of 335 Higate Ave., Daly City, and Daniel Parker, 24, of 1700 El Camino Real, South San Francisco.

Officers William G. Shaffer and Floyd McCall said they were on patrol when an alarm sounded in the cemetery office.

Responding to the scene, the officers said they found a car parked off the road in a clump of weeds.

The officers also spotted Simonetti nearby and questioned him, Police Chief Raymond Savage said.

Savage said Simonetti indicated he and Parker had broken into the cemetery offices. Parker was later picked up at his trailer park home without a struggle, Savage said.

Policemen, Firemen OK Pact

Pacifica Mayor Aubrey M. Lumley announced last week that salary agreements have been signed by the police officers and firefighters.

A settlement with the middle management employes had been approved a week ago.

Meanwhile, most of the other city employes — including the sewage treatment plant workers — remained on strike today with no prospect for settlement. Lumley charged that the treatment plant operators walked off the job without notice, last Monday morning. The city has been operating the treatment plant with management personnel.

"Due to the council's concern for all employes and their families," Mayor Lumley added, "we have decided to continue to provide group medical coverage for the striking miscellaneous employes through the month of July."

He added that "all employes have been advised of their right to report to work. The city remains prepared to meet with the union."

Lumley said, that according to the agreement, salaries for firefighters will range from $914 to $1015; firefighter engineers will receive $1,168 and fire captains will receive $1,114-$1,356, an average 7.98 per cent increase, including the fringe benefit package, such as Blue Cross and uniform allowance.

The Police Officers Association had agreed to an average increase of a 7.73 per cent pay-fringe package. This includes a new pay scale of $962-$1,166 for police officers, $1,115-$1,338 for sergeants, and $1,345-$1,617 for captains. Increases were approved in Blue Cross and Kaiser plans, vacation credits and motorcycle pay.

Middle management had settled a week ago for an 8.0 per cent pay increase.

Lumley said he would not comment on the city workers strike, particulary the conflict over Social Security payments. He did say there is a misunderstanding on the part of city employes, particularly regarding former commitments made by city representatives.

The council has no meetings scheduled over negotiation.

Mayor Outlines Brisbane's 'Positive' Issues

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Brisbane has undertaken several positive improvement programs in recent months, but only a few negative issues are being discussed by residents and publicized in news media, Mayor Anja Miller charged last week.

Stories of "personality conflicts" and "squabbwes" among various factions on the City Council, and among townspeople, have resulted in creation of an unstable political image of that Bayside city, Mayor Miller said.

Two of the latest blockbusters to boom down on the city of some 3,000 are the expected loss of more than $100,000 in annual revenues from Crocker Industrial Park, and reports that veteran Councilman Dr. S. J. Guardno has moved to Belmont.

Mrs. Miller said only a handful of citizens took notice of the start of a $400,000 street improvement program in the city. And the hiring of a professional planner to work with various agencies on planning the future of San Bruno Mountain — placed in Brisbane's sphere of influence by the Local Agency Fromation Commission (LAFCO) to the chagrin of Daly City — received slightly more than a yawn from people when it was announced.

Recent adoption of open space and conservation, along with land use elements to the city's General Plan (called for under State law) have likewise received only lukewarm attention from citizens and news media, Mrs. Miller said.

Other items acted upon by the city administration within the last four months include:

—Establishment of the Tunnel Avenue and Beatty Avenue Assessxent District for the purpose of upgrading streets in the far north end of Brisbane and paving the way for industrial development of that area.

—Initiated, applied for and received some $47,000 in State aid to start a minibus system to serve not only Brisbane, but Crocker Industrial Park, South San Francisco and part of San Francisco.

—Actively supported rezoning of an unincorporated parcel adjacent to the main entrance to Crocker Industrial Park and the City for construction of a Bank of America branch office.

—Initiated a legislative review of activities by a citizens' group. Also cooperation with various citywide groups to generally upgrade the appearance of Brisbane.

Loss of the Crocker Industrial Park's safety service contract (police and fire) will cause the city to look elsewhere for funding some city projects, but it will not be the end of the city as some pessimists predict, Mrs. Miller said.

There are other irons in the fire for producing revenues to meet the city budget, she said.

Southern Pacifica Railroad has indicated plans for construction of an industrial park on the initial dump fill site northeast of the city will soon be underway, Mrs. Miller explained.

The Brisbane Industrial Park itself soon will start to expand and will become "a fine source of tax revenues," she predicted.

On the subject of Councilman Dr. Guardino, Mrs. Miller alleged he had moved out of the city to Belmont last month, however, he has not submitted his resignation as yet to the council.

"If Brisbane loses the fire and police contract, it also loses 13 per cent of its annual revenue," Mrs. Miller pointed out.

'More Brisbane Firemen Needed'

Brisbane needs more firemen, not less.

This statement was issued Wednesday by Walt Newman, member of Local 1725, Brisbane Firefighters' Union, in the wake of reports that the bayside community of some 3,500 residents had lost its contract to provide police and fire service to nearby Crocker Industrial Park.

Newman said Brisbane's 13 firefighters already were stretched too thin.

In 1973 Brisbane recorded a 25 per cent increase in emergency responses, according to Newman. This year the figure is expected to go even higher.

With the loss of contract services for the industrial park and San Bruno Mountain — which provided Brisbane with some $100,000 in revenues — it is possible that as many as eight city employes will lose their jobs, Acting City Manager Dutch Moritz said earlier this week.

"How will we maintain the non-emergency services required of our fire department?" Newman asked.

These "non-emergency services" include lockouts of homeowners, water problems and those historic cat rescues firemen are often called upon to perform.

If Brisbane does in fact lose Crocker Industrial tract the fire department there will still be expected to honor its mutual aid agreements with neighboring cities and respond, Newman explained.

"I'm not asking that other city personnel be cut and firemen left alone. What I am asking for its citizen support to find other sources of income for our city," Newman said.

Youth Carnival Planned in DC

The Youth Community in Action group currently is mapping plans for a carnival to be held next month at Marchbanks Park in Daly City.

Last week, representatives of the group asked the City Council and staff for its support in making the fund-raiser a success.

Last year more than 350 persons showed up at the park for a day of fun and games, according to Mike Furtsh, one of the organizers of the event.

Youth from Pacifica, South San Francisco, Daly City, Brisbane and Colma will run the carnival games and serve free cold drinks and hot dogs, Furtsh said.

George Jurand, another organizer of the carnival group aimed at helping youth "get involved and off the streets" during the summer, said some 1500 persons were expected at the carnival this year.

Many youth today have "nothing to do but mill around" and the proposed carnival is one way to keep them busy, Mimi Brown, supervisor of the event, told the council.

Mayor McRobert Stewart called the Aug. 17 affair "most ambitious" and said, "I like it very much."

There will be no rides at the "carnival" and the youth are "not out to make any outlandish profits," the council was assured by Furtsh and Jurand.

Although professionals will lease the booths to the group the games will be manned by members of the Youth Community in Action Group, Furtsh said.

SSF School Board Elects President

The South San Francisco Unified School District Board last week elected John Dillon its president for 1974-75.

Dillon has been acting president of the board since resignation of Leo Padreddii after he became a city councilman last March.

The trustees elected Ken Austin vice president and Tom Henkle clerk and county trustee representative.

Because the meeting lasted until midnight, the board postponed consideration of its publication budget.

Hearing on the final budget is due Aug. 5.

The resignation of Renato Nicolai, assistant principal at Parkway Junior High, was approved with regrets. He will become principal of a Santa Clara school.

trustees heard a presentation by Richardine E. Horstman, 3601 Baldwin Hills Court, and several Westborough Greens subdivision residents, regarding their petition to the district. They complained that too many children go through their area and that there have been instances of vandalism.

They asked that a chain-link fence b built, sealing off the Westborough Junior High School from Westborough Greens subdivision, and that a stairway from the school to Baldwin Hills Court be sealed off from pedestrian traffic.

The trustees asked for a staff report.

Trustees received an opinion from the district attorney's offie that the district should not have provided funds for transportation of youths not presently enrolled in classes for a series of field trips to Yosemite National Park, this and last month.

At issue are some students who already have graduated. They must provide their own funds.

Daly City Gardening Class Set

The Daly City Department of Recreation, Parks and Maintenance, in response to the requests of individuals already signed up for the Summer Gardening Class, has extended the date for class registrations. A minimum of 15 people is necessary to hold the course.

This class in basic gardening is being offered on Wednesday evenings 7:30 - 9:00 at Westmoor Park Clubhouse. Starting date for the class will be July 31 if additional registrations meet the minimum requirement.

This class will be instructed by Harry Nelson, a local resident who recently retired from the Ornamental Horticulture Department at City College of San Francisco where he concluded his many years of teaching.

His vast knowledge and experience in the field of Ornamental Horticulture has earned him the respect of both professional and amateur gardeners over the years.

Nelson will cover basic gardening and special problems and their solutions for Daly City. He will also share his vast knowledge of plant materials with class members.

There will be a fee of $15. for the 10 week class for local residents and a fee of $22.50 for non-residents.

Interested persons should call 992-5356, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. to register before July 29.

SSF Council Approves City-Wide Bus System

South San Francisco will have a city bus system.

City Council June 15 night agreed to accept $280,700 which the Metropolitan Transportation Commission authorized for the coming year and directed City Manager Ed Alario to devise a bus system.

The first step would be to draw up specifications for the new buses, Alario said, then, public hearings could be held to help determine routes.

Councilman Frank Mammini suggested setting routes first, to learn how many buses to buy.

"The grant will last three to five years," Alario said, "by which time the new county transit district will hopefully be set up."

Alario will present a procedure for setting up the bus system Aug. 5.

IN OTHER business, the council last week:

—Awarded the contract for carpeting City Hall to Sears, Roebuck & Co. at a low bid of $10,236. The project, budgeted for $12,000, is part of the building Improvement Program.

—Approved a lease agreement with Daly City under which, for $1 a year, for 10 years, South San Francisco leases nine square feet of a transmitter building at the Daly City reservoir site, for a backup radio tower. The city's main transmitter is being built on Sign Hill.

—Set an Aug. 5 date for a public hearing on the recommendation of the Planning Commission to zone lands of the South San Francisco Unified School District to Open Space. Councilman Leo Padreddii reported the school district was ready to fight any such rezoning.

—Enacted an ordinance to rezone a site on the north side of South Spruce Avenue, next to Mayfair Village, from R-3 (apartments) and C-3 (heavy commercial) to PCM (planned community and light industrial district). The council also adopted a policy statement that the 25-foot strip of land located at the rear of the properties, and next to the homes of Mayfair Village, should be used only for landscaping and parking.

—Rezoned a 4.1-acre site at Callan Boulevard and Greendale Drive, in Westborough, from Planned Community Single Family to PC Civic District, to permit a church. The site is owned by the Catholic Archdiocese.

—Approved final payment of $46,973 of the Linden Avenue bridge contract. It was a Colma Creek Interim Improvement project, whose cost had risen to $649,000 after being started. Councilman Padreddii expressed concern over erosion on one of the concrete walls, after the recent light rainfall. Director of Public Services Frank Addiego promised an investigation.

BART Trains Speedup OKd

BART may now run trains between Daly City and San Francisco at one-station safety intervals instead of two.

The State Public Utilities Commission approved the interval reduction July 16, which cuts the headway between trains from about 10 minutes to five minutes. Trains had run at the longer interval until the system's computerized train control system was fully approved by the PUC.

Trains on the Concord, Fremont and Richmond lines into Oakland have been on a one-station separation since July 2.

The PUC is holding a special hearing this week on BART's move to start running trains between San Francisco and Oakland on Sept. 16.

In preparation for the hearing, BART technicians argued the safety of the proposed transbay service. PUC Commissioner John P. Vukasin said at least limited under-the-bay service will be approved if the PUC's technical experts concur with BART engineers.

The traget date for transbay service has suffered repeated delays because of the safety troubles of the problem-plagued transit system.

BART hopes to start running 80 mile per hour trains through the transbay tube at five minute intervals with projected passenger loads of nearly27.000 commuters.

Mrs. Collum's Dismal Struggle

By FRANK LaPIERRE

To Jacqueline Collum, mother of three children, Batten's disease is not an affliction a person necessarily lives with, it's a disease that one can die with. She knows!

For the past seven years she has suffered along with her children through sickness and death.

It is almost three years since Mrs. Collum's then-eldest daughter, Pattie died from Batten's disease. The child was only 13 years old.

Since that time, three other Collum children — Casey, 13, Chuck, 10, and Crystal, 9 — have all contracted the disease that throws them into convulsions about once every three weeks.

Chuck has suffered the rare illness for almost six years, while the disease was only recently found in Crystal.

The Post first reported the plight of Mrs. Collum, whose husband lives in Texas, when she was ordered to move from her South San Francisco home shortly after the death of her daughter.

She was without financial means to move and unable to locate suitable housing for her family.

Her story touched the hearts of thousands of Americans and a trust fund was built to care for the children.

This money is diminishing now, Mrs. Collum says, but she refuses to give up her fight to "save my children."

Mrs. Collum now lives in Pacifica in a home that is designed all on one floor.

This is necessary because Batten's disease often attacks the vision, and causes blindness, and deteriorates the nerve system. it has been learned.Last year, Mrs. Collum, with her three children, went to Tulsa, where biochemist Don Armstrong discussed her case with other professionals at the Hillcrest Medical Center.

It was learned that the Collum children were all deficient in the enzyme peroxidase.

Mrs. Collum tried to build up this peroxidase by feeding her children, first, horseradish and, when that made them nauseous, something she called "chapparall."

"I only tried these two vegetables — both extremely high in peroxidase content — and stopped," she said. "In one case, my daughter became so ill we had to admit her to the hospital and for a while we thought we had lost her."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Collum said she had learned from Armstrong that raw vegetables are good for building up peroxidase in persons.

"I give them such things as carrots, bell peppers, all the so-called finger vegetables, they want to eat at each meal," she said.

Is it working?

"Casey (now the eldest child) is holding her own. Chuck is still managing, although he is in rather bad shape, and Crystal seems to be doing better," she responded.

Mrs. Collum's hope is that one day her children will be in good health once again.

"Until that day, I will keep fighting to find something that will help them — it's our only hope," she said.

Fighting for a Cure to Save Others

By MARY JANE CLINTON

"Charles was fine until he was eight years old.

"He had an IQ of 125 .

"He was a normal boy.

"At eight, he started to stutter and started dropping things. He was able to tie his shoes before he entered nursery school; now he couldn't tie them any more."

Thus, Graclynn Rider of Mill Valley described the initial symptoms of an illness that took 11 years to diagnose.

Charles, her son, has Batten's disease, the retrogressive brain disorder that results in blindness, loss of speech and mobility and, ultimately, death.

Charles, who is now 26, is the oldest living victim of Batten's disease, the same affliction that has stricken the children of Jacqueline Collum of Pacifica.

Graclynn Rider and her husband, Dr. J. Alfred Rider, know that their son is never going to be cured. Yet, they are putting all of their efforts into finding a cure so that others may live.

Six years ago. the Riders founded the Children's Brain Diseases Foundation, whose research may help children with Batten's disease (4,000 cases are estimated in this country, alone). And in finding the answer to Batten's Disease, the foundation may find an answer to a more widespread affliction — senility. "The brain tissues are the same in both cases," said Mrs. Rider.

The Riders started the Foundation because "We have to fight." Funds first came from out of pocket and from friends. Now, to augment these monies, Graclynn Rider has organized the Children's Brain Disease Foundation Auxiliary.

"Because our funds have been so few, the foundation can't even rent office space," Mrs. Rider continued. "We send money to the universities and the doctor requests it through the school. The university returns a report. There is no overhead."

The Auxiliary will also be a "low overhead" operation, according to its founders. "There are marvelous people, celebrities for example, who have given much time to charities," Graclynn noted. "They raise lots of money, but the expenses are so great that there is little money left. This spring, we hired a professional fund raiser who charged a thousand dollars to promote our first benefit, a harbor cruise. However, it was my friends who supported it."

The Auxiliary has dispensed with the fund raising expert and future plans call for a continuation of the Bay Cruise ("The first one was so much fun."); the sponsorship of a golf tournament on the lines of the one the Auxiliary sponsored this spring at the Meadow Club in Marin County; and a third benefit event, whose format is still undecided.

Throughout the conversation, Mrs. Rider referred to herself as "a squaw, not a chief," but it is obvious that she is a fighter.

"The only disagreement that my husband and I have had in 32 years of marriage," she confided, was whether or not something was neurologically wrong with Charles. When Charles was stricken with the initial signs of the disease, he thought I was overprotective. But a mother knows. She's with her child all day.

(Times Photo)

MRS. J. ALFRED RIDER

Mrs. Rider, a Mill Valley resident, has founded the Children's Brain Disease Foundation Auxiliary that will raise funds to continue research into Batten's disease. Graclynn Rider's 26-year-old son, Dean, has just been graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and plans to be the sixth generation of his family to enter the medical profession. Dean doesn't even carry the recessive Batten's disease gene.

"No one would test him at first. Finally, the illness was diagnosed as 'calcification of the brain' and the doctors said he will be a vegetable in four years."

The Riders could not accept the diagnosis and, for the next 11 years, took Charles to specialists throughout the country. They were invariably told that Charles either was suffering from encephalitis or calcification of the brain.

Then, Dr. Wolfgang Zeman, chairman of the Department of Pathology and Neuropathology at the Indiana University Medical Center, discovered a simple blood screening test which showed if a person was a carrier of Batten's disease.

The disorder is passed on genetically — both parents must have the recessive gene. Peculiarly, it's found only in Nordic people.

The Riders' refusal to give up has resulted in some startling scientific breakthroughs.

Through research, it has been established that persons having Batten's disease have a deficiency of the enzyme peroxidase, which the foundation explains is analogous to the discovery of a deficiency of insulin in diabetics. There is now a list of food and their units of peroxidase activity ranging from lemon (with none) to horseradish root (with 35,000 per 2 gram net weight).

It is now possible to make peroxidase in a crystalline form. It's $50 a spoonful, but the daily requirement is hardly larger than a bread crumb.

"We now know that peroxidases are absent in the blood stream in Batten's disease," Mrs. Rider said. "We do not know how they reach the brain. We feel that there is a catalyst."

Several years ago, the Foundation learned that some English setters in Ireland carried a disease similar to Batten's disease. The foundation is now breeding the dogs to study the advancement of the disease (it's possible to see results faster because of the dogs' shorter lifespan). The foundation is experimenting with the use of peroxidase. "We are not hurting the animals," Graclynn emphasizes; they have a disease anyway."

Charles is alive today because of the care he receives. He has a nurse from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., but his mother feeds him dinner herself. The Riders have hired a man to stand him on his feet five times a day for 10 minutes at a time (he is placed in ski boots because his ankles won't support him.) "If you lie in bed all of the time, you lose calcium," Graclynn explained, "and also become subject to pneumonia." Charles also sits two hours a day in a wheel chair.

"Because we've kept him doing this, he has retained some muscle tone," Mrs. Rider said. "He wouldn't live a month in a home."

Why go to such efforts to prolong life? There's mother love, of course, but there's also a pragmatic reason. Chuckie is being given peroxidase and the amount he assimilates can be measured. He is helping others.

"I don't know, maybe God did this for a reason," Graclynn Rider said. "But I do know, it's better to do something rather that just sit and cry."

Southgate to Stage 'The Lion in Winter'

Friday, Aug. 2, the Southgate Theater Company will open James Goldman's "The Lion in Winter," the second show in their summer program of low-cost family entertainment.

After a successful run of "The Importance of Being Earnest," the North County community theater group is now rehearsing "The Lion in Winter".

The play will be performed every Friday and Sunday night through August 11 at the United Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate Ave., Daly City. After August 11, "The Lion in Winter" will be performed alternately with "The Importance of Being Earnest".

The Southgate Theater Company is a group of actors and actresses from Daly City and other Peninsula cities, organized this summer to bring quality, live theater to the North County community.

"The Lion in Winter" is directed by Allen Galli, a graduate student in the theater department of Bailer University, currently residing in Millbrae. Earlier this year Galli was seen portraying the role of Gutman in the production of Tennessee William's "Camino Real" at Skyline College, a play in which he also served as assistant director.

The leading male role of Henry II, King of England, will be played by Gordon Farrell, currently a Pacifica resident although originally from Colma. Farrell, a drama major at Skyline College, directed the company's first show, "The Importance of Being Earnest." Playing opposite him as Eleanor of Aquitaine will be Millbrae resident Lynda West, also a drama major at Skyline.

Other local residents participating in the show are Jeff Wilbur and Michael Nicholson of Daly City, Donna Wells and Richard Talavera of Pacifica, and John Mathews of San Francisco.

Briefly, "The Lion in Winter" recounts the epic struggle between Henry II and Eleanor of Aquitaine, King and Queen of England in 1183, to determine which of their sons will succeed Henry as the next king — Richard the Lion-hearted, Prince John (of Magna Carta fame), or Geofrey Plantagenet.

Farrell, the general director of the Southgate Theater company, hopes Peninsula residents will take the advice of Channel 8 theater reviewer Nat Marks, given in a review of their first show: "It's good! It's great! Go see it!"

Curtain will be at 7:30 p.m. on Sundays and at 8:15 p.m. on Fridays. Donations of $1.75 for adults and 75 cents for children will be requested at the door.

For details call, 359-3871.

'Funny Thing'

"A Funny Thing Happed on the Way to the Forum" was Ron Wells' first contribution to the Daly City Summer Music Theatre. In it Ron found a vehicle for the characters that he creates with skill. Here they were: the shrewish wife, the cowing husband, the befuddled boy and the naive girl who are caught in man-made circumstances and the conniving old man who creates the circumstances — usually played by Karl Kostolefsky. Besides these there are the fat girl, the he-man, the chorus, the kids that play more than one part and the clown who works out a solution to everybody's problems.

Every year Ron finds a place for them all in a play that he can adapt to the people who try out for the parts, and every year he does what the man in the row ahead of mine called "a damn good job."

In "A Funny Thing . . ." the actors made up with effort and charm whatever skill they did not share with Phil Silvers and the other stars of the movie. As the slave-clowns, Pseudolus and Hysterium, Richard Ryan and Michael Pulizzano tripped around the stage speaking and singing lines that convulsed the audience with laughter.

Karl Kostolefsky added to his reputation as a character actor. His girls — Janine Grialou, Brenda Thompson, Katy Bellak, Lisa Groger, Paula Ercoli and Lauren Cater — looked and played their parts well. As Miles Glorosis, Bob Kip looked like Errol Flynn. For effort Bruce Geller, Steve Price and Peter Jaquysh deserve an A plus. All night they hopped around from role to role and costume to costume. As the boy and girl Roseanne Grogar and Brian Devine were as cute and confused as they were supposed to be, while Greg Grialou and Nancy Bradshaw added to an evening of good fun.

A great deal must he said for Ron Wells and his associates. It is amazing how they put together a show from the motley group of musicians and actors who answer the call summer after summer.

The villains of the whole thing are the people of Daly City who don't come to see these productions. Good Heavens! Here is young America at its best crying for support. Why don't they get more of it?

Okay, Daly City, on Aug. 22, 23 and 24 you have a chance to redeem yourself. On those days The Summer Music Theatre will present "Due to a Lack of Interest, Tomorrow Has Been Cancelled." It's a cute play and it will be in the Westmoor Little Theatre. It will be well worth your support.

SM County Children's Librarian Is Appointed

Geraldine Zietz has assumed the position of Coordinator of Children's Services for the San Mateo County Library upon the resignation of Dorothy English, who has become head of children's services at Seattle Public Library.

Ms. Zietz formerly supervised the central children's room of the Contra Costa County Library, served as children's librarian at the San Ramon Valley, Walnut Creek, and Lafayette branches of the Contra Costa County Library.

After serving as San Ramon Valley branch librarian, Ms. Zietz supervised one of the three regions of the Contra Costa County Library. She received her B.A. in history and a library science degree from the University of California, Berkeley, and has taught children's literature classes at the University of Washington.

Her present position includes the supervision of the children's services offered in all 14 branches of the County Library. Approximately 100 new titles are added each month to the children's book collection which covers a wide range of reading levels and interests from pre-school through the eighth grade.

Non-print materials such as records and films, and activities such as story hours, shows, songs and finger games, augment the book collection. According to Ms. Zietz, "the print and non-print materials are selected for recreational reading and to supplement school assignments."

The County Library employs 11 children's librarians who are reader advisors to children and their parents, make classroom visits to the grade schools, conduct children's programs throughout the year, and provide a special summer reading program for school age children.

Parents may call their local library, or Ms. Zietz at the San Mateo County Central Library, 25 Tower Road, Belmont, for a schedule of specific events.

PROMOTED

CHERRY POINT, N.C. — Marine Lance Corporal Edgar M. Chicas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armado Chicas of 260 Vera Ave., Redwood City, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the 2d Marine Aircraft Wing at the Marine Corps Air Station here.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Since it's vacation time, let's think about a recipe that is easy to make, can be made ahead (in case you want to spend the afternoon at the beach) and gives a generous return on our efforts and the ingredients.

FIESTA TAMALE PIE

3 Tablespoons olive oil
1 small onion, minced
1 pound ground beef
1 clove garlic, minced
½ pound pork sausage
1 large can tomatoes No. 2½ can
1 can whole kernel corn
1½ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
24 pitted ripe olives
1 cup cornmeal
1 cup milk
2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups grated American cheese

Heat the three tablespoons oil in frying pan and saute the minced onion and garlic until golden. Add the one pound beef and one-half pound sausage and brown again. In a saucepan combine the large can tomatoes, one can corn and one and one-half teaspoons salt and two teaspoons chili powder, simmer for 20 minutes. Let this mixture cool and combine with cooked meat.

Pour into an oblong pan, 10 x 13 inches. Combine the one cup cornmeal with the one cup milk and two beaten eggs. Spread, with a spoon, over the meat. (NOTE: This makes a very thin cornmeal batter, but it bakes into a thick crusty topping.)

Sprinkle the one and one-half cups cheese over top and bake in 350-degree oven about one hour, or until cornbread is baked.

You may prepare the meat mixture early in the day and just add the cornmeal topping when ready to bake. Serves 8.

Since you are going to be baking the tamale pie, why not have the oven heat do double duty and bake this easy to fix fruit crisp for dessert?

FRUIT CRISP

2 cans fruit, No. 303
1 package yellow cake mix
¼ pound butter or margarine (1 cube)
½ cup chopped almonds

Pour the fruit and liquid into greased oblong baking pan, 9x13-inch. (Use any fruit you like, pineapple, peaches, apricots.) Sprinkle half cup nuts over fruit. Pour DRY cake mix over fruit and slice the cube butter over dry mix.

Bake 350-degree oven 40 to 45 minutes. Serve warm, plain or topped with ice cream or whipped cream.

A Question of Who's Responsible

By LORENE BEASWEY
Editor of BBB Barometer

QUESTION: I had aluminum siding installed on my home almost 10 years ago. At the time I was given a 15-year warranty. When the siding began to crack and peel I went to the dealer who installed it and was told that he no longer handled the brand and referred me to the firm's Los Angeles office. I found that this office had been closed. What do I do now?

ANSWER: The warranty was given by the manufacturer who would be obliged to honor it. We suggest you contact him for referral to his nearest outlet.

QUESTION: I had my roof repaired several months ago which was paid for by my insurance company. The roof leaked in the recent rain, but neither the contractor or insurance company will do anything about it. I am sure the contractor's work was faulty.

ANSWER: First, the insurance company is out of it since they paid the claim as per your acceptance of the work as being completed. We talked to the contractor who said he was willing to correct any faulty work of his. But he says his inspection shows that the roof developed a leak in an area he did not work on so he feels no obligation. In checking, the Better Business Bureau substantiated the contractor's claim.

QUESTION: I see concerns advertising three prices for items. One price is usually a suggested list price, then another may say "regular" and the third may say "our price", which is of course the lowest price. What do they mean by having three prices?

ANSWER: The BBB has on occasion also found it difficult to understand this pricing procedure. However, generally speaking many items do have a factory suggested price, which is now always realistic since no one in the market area actually sells for that price. The "regular price" quoted may include delivery and credit privileges. The "our price" may require cash payment and you must provide your own delivery and installation service. Briefly put, it depends on what you are willing to accept and pay for.

Heading for "our mountain" for our annual summer "retreat" is traumatic, even on the best of days, but this year it was tragi-comedy.

To get things started off on the wrong foot our exodus was delayed until after the Fourth of July — and the closing of the Rotary's fireworks botth — and that change in procedure was just enough to throw everyone off step! Kids are more easily maneuvered if they are given less time to prepare themselves — and their "tons" of important possessions!

We equipped the car with four lovely new tires, had the brakes checked, the carburetor resent and the tank filled with gas, and then I went shopping. Over the years we have slowly transported the major items up and left them so we now have only foodstuffs and paper products, little incidentals that we consider necessary and an occasional new can opener or a less disgraceful looking coffee pot to secure. Nothing major on the shopping list so I went blissfully off to my friendly supermarket. I realized prices were higher, but have you started from scratch to fill a larger lately? The next bridal shower I am invited to I will give a money order from the brighborhood grocery! I came out of the store stunned and me check book less one full week of my husband's slary! Ye Gods!! How ar I going to be able to afford all that coke and ice cream when we hit the high country?

Shaken, but determined I thought next of the pets, rabies shot for the dog, summer feeding cake for the gold fish, pellets for the rabbit, grain mix for the mouse and a stockpile of yummy something-or-other for our tabby and her daughter. Teetering on the brink of bankruptcy and hysteria after those expenditures, I headed home to load the offspring and their accouterments in with the food and wait for the man of the house to return from his last half day on the job so we could depart.

SOMEHOW or other we kept remembering things we had to have. Books we needed to read, chains for the tractor, a new radiator, too. A couple of new rakes, the tool boxes, the portable typewriter and the cooler chest filled with frozen things. Add to that four children with poodle and one niece and her charming girl friend and you have quite a load!

When the master returned to his castle he didn't exactly explode, he just looked as if he might. The pile of "stuff" on the walk beside the driveway kept growing while he tried — albeit valiantly — to squeeze everything into our big pre-gas shortage wagon. I knew something was afoot when he stopped grumbling and started assembling the four eldest children. Then came the explosion!

With only four of the necessary eight loaded into the car the rear end settled down neatly, flat again, the lovely new tires.

Have you ever tried, at the eleventh hour, to repack all the belongings of eight people, while one husband — in high dudgeon — stood glaring. It's an unnerving experience! We couldn't leave the dog, he couldn't shift for himself, and none of the children would agree to remain behind. While paper toweling rolled down our hill and the bag with the eggs got shuffled about and lost somewhere in the back of the deck, we jerked out all the clothes and everyone was allowed the clothes on their backs, one bathing suit each and two complete changes of clothing. The uproar was phenomenal but father was adamant. A ton of clothing was dragged back inside. The crash helmets somehow escaped detection but the motorcycle came off the bumper and the kids began wailing. Still the car looked more like an overly pregnant dachshund than any sleek and speedy product of Detroit. Out came the chains for the tractor, only 160 pounds each, and the springs showed signs of recovery, out came a summer of reading material and the old buggy showed its racy spirit once again.

ONE AT A TIME the kids were loaded in and then reshuffled so that the heaviest counterbalanced an undetermined number of pounds of frozen meat and orange juice. Having determined that the wheels could still turn freely we were all unloaded, while the car was eased down our rather steep driveway — it only dragged slightly the last five feet or so — and then reloaded in our proper order.

The time was now 4:30 p.m. on a Friday afternoon in July and mother and father were both downing glasses of a well advertized antacid preparation. We lumbered down our quiet residential street, praying we wouldn't have to make any sudden stops that might bounce the watermelon into the laps of those in the back seat, and then we eased our way onto Highway 280, northbound.

As was expected the traffic wa horrendous, the kids began fussing about overcrowding an the dog refused to sit still. Wearing determined smiles and resolutely singing all the old camp songs we could remember we drove on and none of us noticed Dad was still wearing his wool business suit until after we cleared El Cerrito and headed into that blistering Sacramento Valley!

Oh, well, next year we'll do it better — that's what we always hope at any rate.

An entirely new luncheon menu has been introduced at this scenic Polynesian restaurant. Among the favorite salads, just perfect for the summer months, is the South Sea Lobster Salad, served on a pineapple ring with the Castaway's special dressing. Did you know that Park Avenue Tours will make regular reservations for motels or hotels in Lake Tahoe, Reno and Las Vegas? . . . Following City Lights' engagement at Frank Martinelli's Beach House (through Aug. 10), the club will be closed for remodeling.

Asylum Takes Over Sneaky Pete's Action

A group called Asylum will be presenting the Sunday night concerts for the next two weekends at Sneaky Pete's, in downtown Burlingame. Repo Depo Trial in Redwood

The head of Burlingame's Repo Depo and a Standard Oil Co. purchasing agent went on trial in Redwood City Monday on charges of conspiracy, grand theft, and possession of stolen property.

Jury selection began before Superior Court Judge Frank Piombo.

Defendants are Ronald A. Rosberg, 34, a resident of Hillsborough and owner of Repo Depo, and Walter B. Millhollen, 49, of San Jose, 25-year employe of Standard Oil.

The charges stem from allegations that the two men became involved in a scheme to receive some $45,000 worth of business machines and supplies allegedly stolen from Standard Oil.

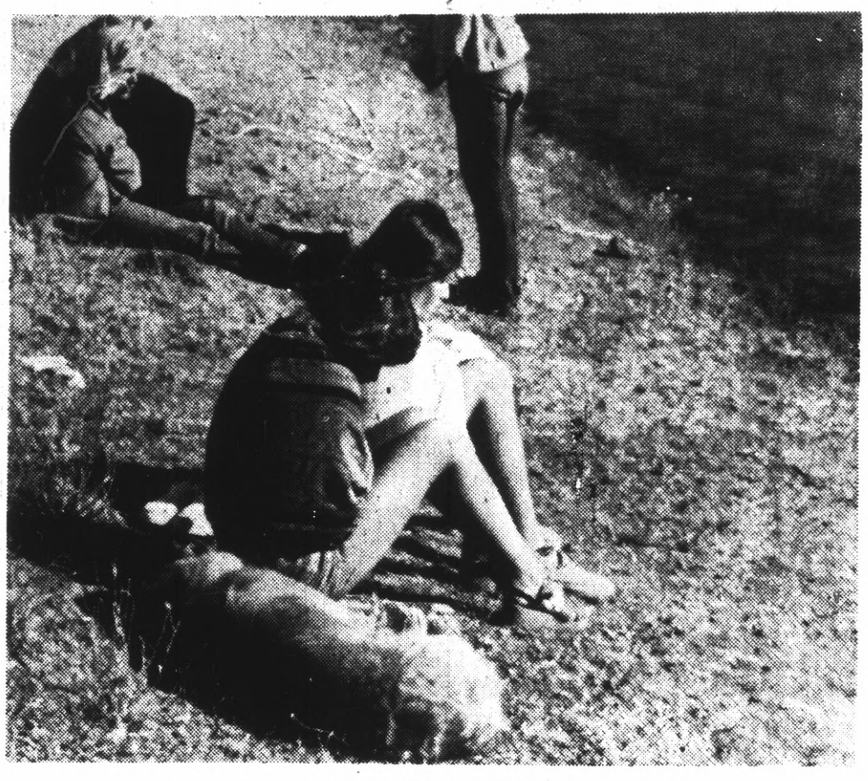
At the time of his arrest last September, Rosberg said, "There's no truth to it. We have entirely documented everything on our own behalf."

Prosecutor Margaret Kemp expects to call some 75 witnessessduring the four week trial.

DRIVER CLASS

FT. ORD, — Army Private Norman H. McInnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. McInnis, 239 Elm St. San Mateo, completed a five-week light vehicle driver course at Ft. Ord.

During the course, he was trained in the operation and maintenance of military vehicles of less than four and one-half tons rated capacity.



DROWNING DESPAIR

Susan Antal, 19, and Alan Harding, 20, sit despondently alongside Waterdog Lake Thursday while divers search for the body of their drowned companion. Their dog, Spud, sleeps at their side.

Belmont Lake Claims Youth

A 20-year-old youth from Pennsylvania who was vacationing with friends in this area, drowned Thursday in Belmont's Waterdog Lake.

Belmont police identified the victim as Vincent James Accardi of Easterville. Skin divers from the Belmont police and fire departments and the county sheriff's department, located the victim's body in about 20 feet of water near the east shore.

The victim and two companions, Alan W. Harding, 20, and Susan E. Antal, 19, both of Philadelphia, went swimming in the Belmont hills lake about 3:35 p.m., according to the police report.

Harding and Miss Antal dived into the water from a pier on the south shore and began swimming across the lake. They told police the victim was swimming towards them when he suddenly disappeared in the water.

The victim's companions swam to the area where Accardi disappeared and tried unsuccessfully to locate his body. Police were then summoned.

The youth's body was located several hours later by divers in the muddy bottom of Waterdog Lake. The victim's companions told police Accardi was a good swimmer and could offer no explanation for his sudden disappearance. The three youths were visiting friends in San Mateo.

College Looks at Image

As the 1973-74 school year began, there was hope at Canada College in Redwood City that things were going to change.

The plan was to diversify course offerings, to take them into the communities along the bayshore far from the campus high in the western hills and generally to attempt to relate better to its public.

The effort met with mixed reviews.

The school's total enrollment rose slightly but there were angry mutterings from some ethnic minorities, who make up a significant portion of the Canada service area, that the school was not meeting their educational needs.

A student-run survey found that a large percentage of people interviewed in the South County believe that Canada ought to expand its classes off campus.

Canada has never come close to meeting its expected enrollment projections and more than one official of the San Mateo Community College District has indicated that the school must alter its thrust significantly.

Now, as the top echelon of administrative authority at Canada continues to undergo changes with the resignation of President James Duke, the move to alter Canada's image and offerings has begun again with renewed vigor.

"I think we've got the chance to go out and do the kinds of things we need to do here," says Gilberto Villarreal. He is the school's new evening college head and the current director of summer school.

Villarreal, 40, believes that Canada is in a transition period today.

GIL VILLARREAL
New Image

"We are going to try to appeal to the new student, the working student," he explains.

Included in the school's list of innovative attempts to better serve its public are: weekend classes; courses in rest homes for the elderly; classes on industry sites; more cooperation with the neighboring Sequoia Union High School District; and an increased effort to serve the minority people of the Canada service region.

"I predict that change and growth will be evident "Canada will develop a new image in the community. And it will be a more responsive image."

here," Villarreal offers.

"Canada College is only six-years-old and, according to Villarreal, many people still don't know how to pronounce the place's name properly. (It is Can-ya-da).

Villarreal says that impetus to alter Canada's posture in the community is coming from the key people in the college district's main offices in San Mateo, including Chancellor Glenn Smith, a man who strongly urges that Canada seek changes.

"This is still a young school," points out Villarreal. "We have not yet established too many traditions. We need a little more time for that."

He says that a good example of how the school has already changed subtly is that the faculty is far more concerned this time about who its next president will be.

Meetings have been held to discuss how the appointment of the interim president ought to be handled.

As for Villarreal, who spent the past school year studying at the University of Colorado for his doctorate in education, he sees his current role as one of community liaison and feedback analyst as the institution tries to respond to the multiplicity of groups in the South County.

"Pressures for accountability are coming from all segments of the community," adds Villarreal.

He spent five years at the College of San Mateo doing much the same sort of thing.

Those ten CSM semesters included work in counseling, financial aid and cooperative education.

He has taught at Foothill College and he has served the public schools in San Jose as a teacher, foreign language specialist, counselor and adult education instructor.

As a Mexican-American, he has been active in a variety of groups devoted to that ethnic minority's betterment here in San Mateo County.

He and his wife and two children live in Redwood City.

2 Hurt in Cycle Mishaps

Two men were injured in separate motorcycle accidents Saturday in the south San Mateo County area.

Matthew S. Negherbon, 26, of 3127 Oak Knoll Drive, Redwood City, was taken to Sequoia Hospital with head cuts and a possible broken left leg after he "lay down" his motorcycle to avoid a car which had driven into the Valota Road-Oak Avenue intersection without stopping, police report.

John W. McClay, 28, of 432 Sequoia Ave., Redwood City, was taken to Chope Community Hospital for treatment of multiple abrasions and a possible fractured left ankle after his motorcycle went out of control and hit a guard rail on Stage Road about 23 miles north of Pescadero Road, the highway patrol reports.

'New Look' for Pacifica Chamber

There wil be a new look at the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, newly installed president, Nick Gust, promised in his inaugural address Thursday afternoon.

He urged members to become involved in their community.

He told the members, "If I get pushy, tell me."

He promised them, "You'll work."

Gust said a new handicap has been added to the highly successful beauty pageant by the withdrawal of Challenge Developments, which has always provided the all-important carpentry for the event

There will be no let-up however, on the pageant, which is a preliminary to the Miss California Pageant, he vowed. He said he plans to establish neighborhood pageants, to determine the most qualified woman in each neighborhood.

"We'll have 200 girls competing," he pledged.

Gust also is studying doubling the number of Chamber meetings, to twice a month.

He cited statistics showing how small businesse are disappearing in the United States Increased Chamber activity, he said, is needed to save small businesses

High on his agenda is the hiring of a Chamber manager to inject the promotinal impetus needed for Pacifica.

Mayhor Aubrey Lumley challenged chamber members to get behind newly elected chamber director May Gee's petition, directed at the Department of Transportation's hearing at Skyline College on Aug 14 to consider the extension of Freeway 380. The petition states:

"Yes –I want 380 "

Plaques were presentd to outgoing president, Jose Mendez, and outgoing director Charles Triffiletti

Conducting the in- stallation was Joe Eisner Installed were Vice-President Jim Golder, Treasurer Dick Llewellan, and Secretary Ed Cordero Because he was away on business in Detroit, Cordero was installed in absentia

The members were addressed by Charles Woodruff of the Pacific Telephone Co who spoke on why competition in telephone communications is harmful to the public

SSF Transferring Prisoners to Daly City Jail

By FRANK LaPIERRE

For the past two weeks, South San Francisco has been incarcerating persons arrested and awaiting arraignment in Daly City's seven year old $3.5 million police station.

Located in the southwest wing of the award-winning $5.5 million structure, the facility is completely self-contained and capable of housing upwards of 25 persons — men, women and juveniles — at a time.

The jail's drunk tank is able to hold 30 persons in adequate, if cramped, quarters.

All toilets, wash basins and doors in the cell block can be remotely controlled from the central communications room on the main floor.

The cells are all monitored via television by the same communications center, with the exception of the women's cell which will have a separate monitor connected to a private room manned by a police matron.

Adjustment cells, once used to temporarily house "socially disturbed" inmates, have been sealed off because, as one police sergeant confided, "we do not intend to house these persons any more."

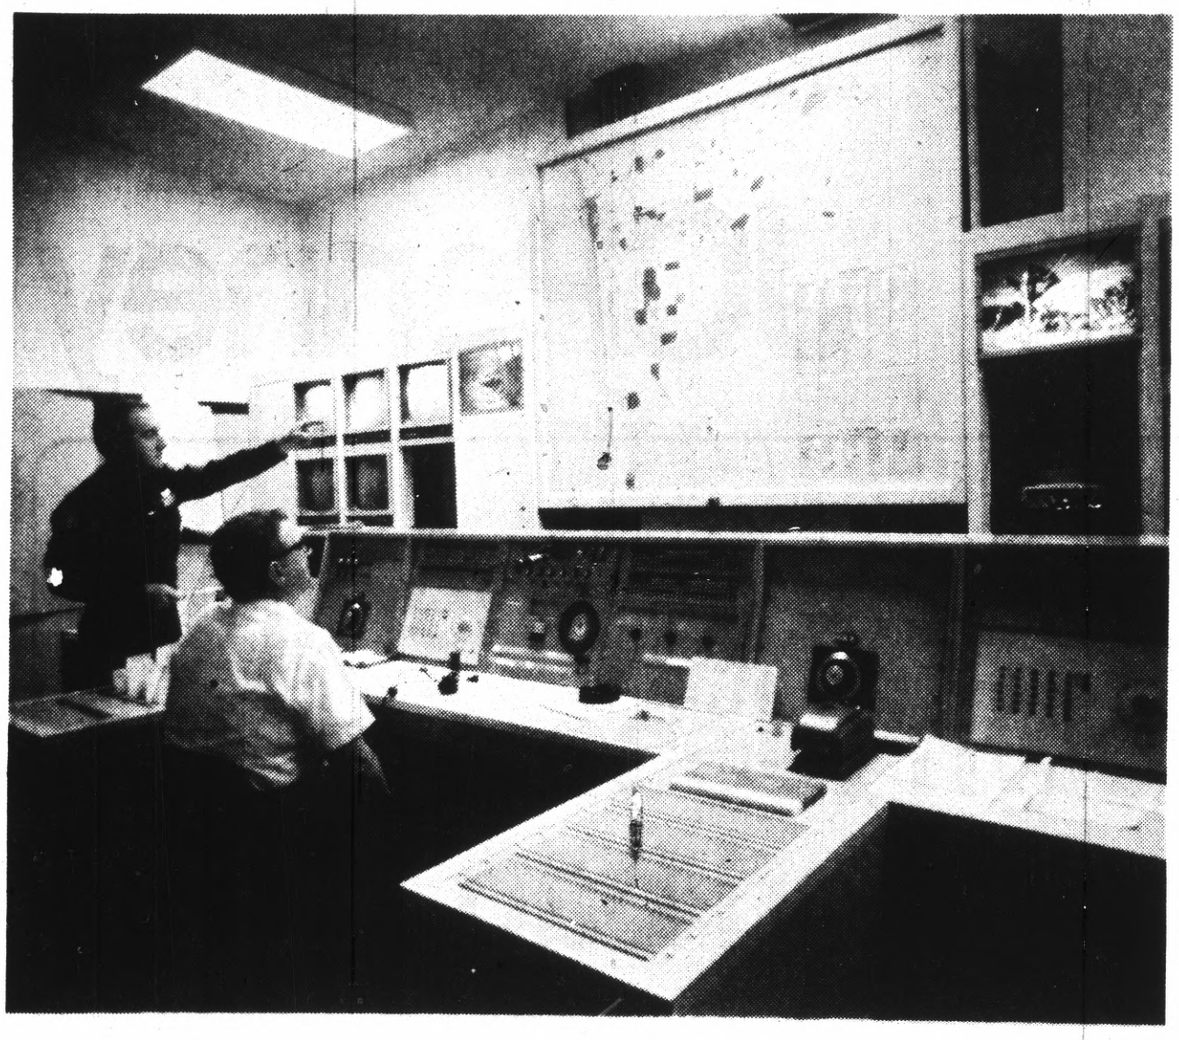
This type person will be immediately taken to the county mental health holding facility, it was understood.

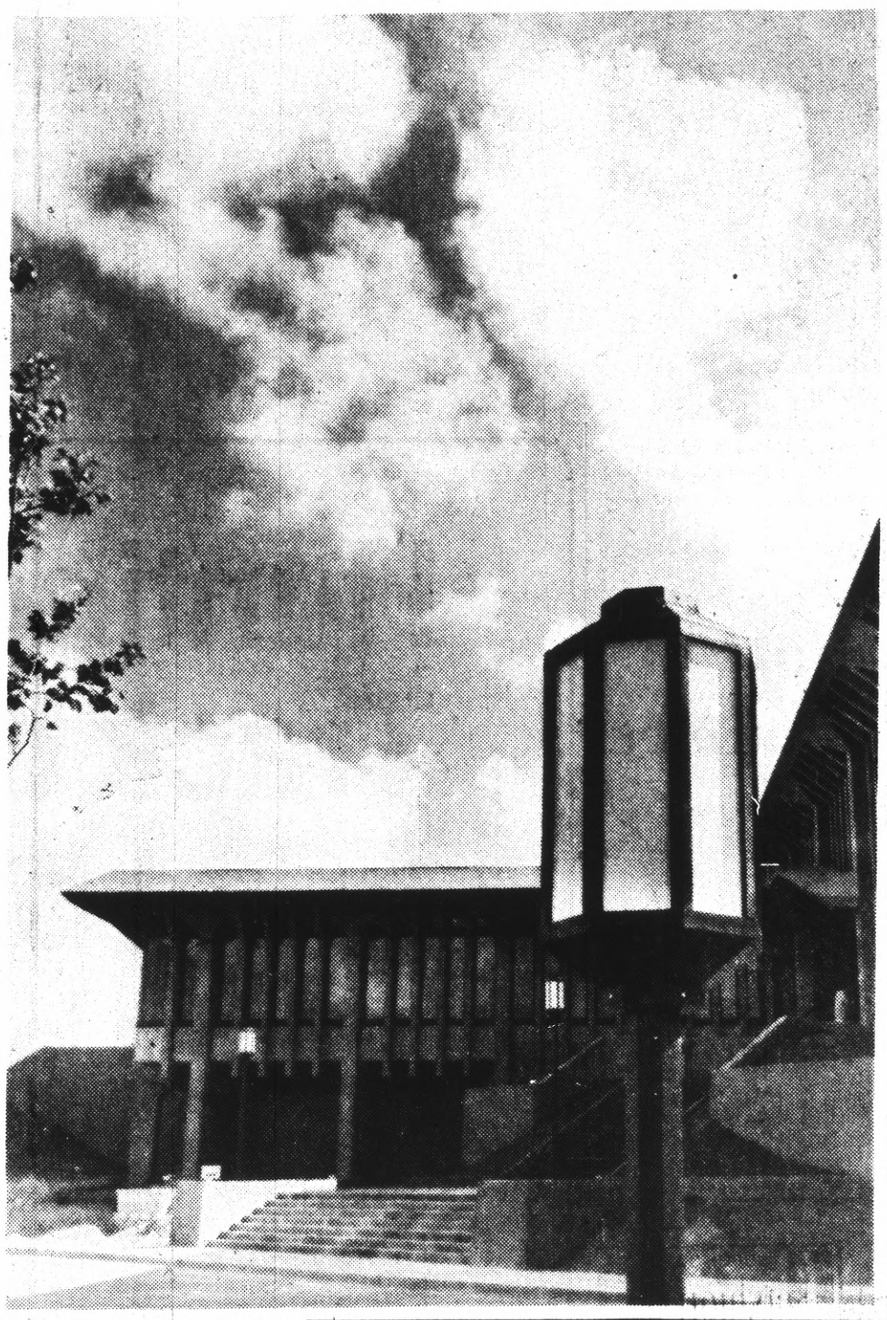
Meals, consisting of breakfast and dinner, will be served those persons reposing in the Daly City jail.

Breakfast usually consists of scrambled eggs, coffee, pancakes and potatoes, while dinner may consist of meatloaf with all the trimmings, to roast chicken.

The meals are cooked in the jail's kitchen area with a micro-wave oven, according to Acting Police Chief David Hansen.

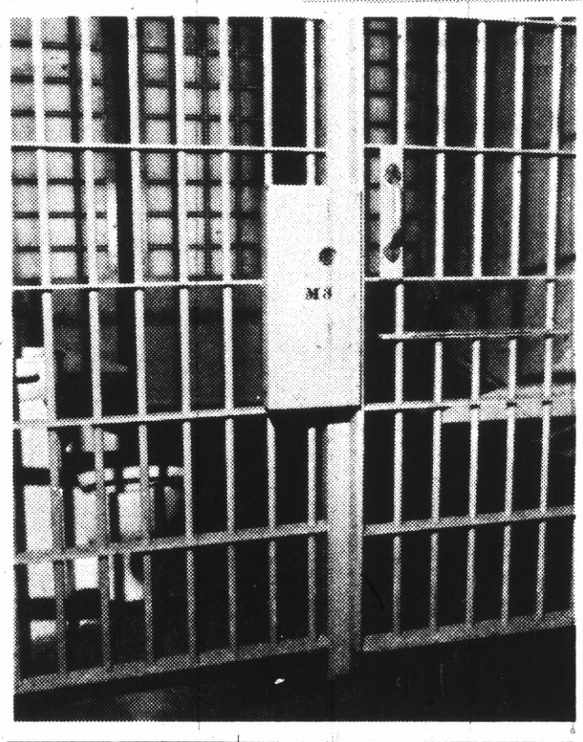
Charges for the South San Francisco prisoners, transferred to the Daly City jail due to what the State Board of Corrections terms substandard condition in the South San Francisco holding facility, is currently $12 per person for the first day and $5 for each day thereafter.





MODERN HOLDING FACILITY

Daly City's $3.5 million police station (right) is a self-contained facility capable of holding 25 persons arrested and awaiting arraignment. The jail includes a modern communications center (above, manned by Lt. Jim Doran and Dispatcher Bob Croocker), which monitors jail cells via television. Cells (below right) are 8 feet by 10 feet in size and include toilet, wash basin, bed and a shatter-proof glass window.



Meeting

The Daly City Area Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will meet July 27 at the United Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

Coffee and cake will be served at 1 p.m. preceding the 2 p.m. meeting.

Tour Director, Fay Adams, will present information on several interesting tours.

Membership in the AARP is open to all persons 55 years of age or older and residents of Daly City, Colma, Pacifica and South San Francisco are invited to attend the meeting.

Pacifica Swimming Pool Plan to Voters Again

Pacifica's City Council Monday night voted to place a $550,000 bond issue on the Nov. 5 ballot to build an enclosed swimming pool at Oceana High School, and lighted tennis courts at Terra Nova High School.

The total project, including the share to be paid by the Jefferson Union High School District, would come to $1,375,000. Jefferson was reported to have its share from its civic center tax.

It will be the second time within a year that Pacifica has voted on the swimming pool. A $400,000 bond issue for the pool alone ($1,000,000 total cost) failed, just short of the two-thirds requirement, on March 5.

Mayor Aubrey Lumley, co-chairman of the earlier bond committee, announced an organizational meeting of the committee for the new bond issue would be held on Aug. 7.

"We have $180 left over from the old campaign, to start a new one with," he announced.

City Manager Dave Thompson announced that a successfuld bond issue will require an increase in the tax rate of a maximum of 5¾ cents per $100 valuation. Only the amount of bonds needed to build the facility will be sold, he said.

City officials had waited until it was getting near the deadline for placing measures on a ballot, because the Jefferson district first had to cope with problems created when bids for a new classroom wing at Terra Nova High School came in higher than the amount budgeted.

Other actions were taken by the council for park, beach and firehouse facilities.

The city council launched a new drive to purchase San Pedro Beach — a curved expanse of sand at the southern coast of Pacifica.

The council adopted a resolution urging the county board of supervisors to fund 25 per cent of the cost of acquisition, the state 25 per cent, with the remaining funds to be obtained from the Land and Water Conservation Fund Program.

Councilmen voted to urge the board of supervisors to provide an easterly access from outside the City of Pacifica to serve the new 1000-acre San Pedro Valley regional county park. At present, the park may be reached only over Pacifica residential streets.

The council voted on recommendation of its Transportation and Safety Commission, headed by John Plato.

Plato wrote that "the easterly access road would provide a safer and more scenic means of traveling to and from the park."

Councilwoman Janice Fulford at first expressed fear that such a route would go through the park and destroy the wilderness concept governing its development. However, when she was assured that the intention was for the road to go just up to the park, she voted for it.

Playground Hours Change

The Daly City Recreation Division announces that starting July 29, with summer school ending, school playgrounds will change their hours.

The following school sites will be open Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Tuesdays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Daniel Webster School, F. D. Roosevelt School, Vista Mar School, Colma School, George Washington School and Panorama School.

The Midway Community Center will extend its hours on Mondays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Tuesdays through Fridays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Aug. 20.

AVIATION SCHOOL

Navy Airman Apprentice William C. Blankenship, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Blankenship of 1384 De Solo Drive, Pacifica, has completed the Aviation Machinist's Mate School in Millington, Tenn.

Aviation machinist's mates maintain aircraft engines and related syszems.

City Rejects Pacifica Offer

Representatives of striking Pacifica city employes made a counter-offer to the City Council Monday night, but it was rejected, according to Dallas Craig of the Teamsters' local which represents the miscellaneous city employes.

The counter-offer was authorized at a meeting of the local Sunday night, Craig said. Another meeting of the local is scheduled for today and a new offer might be authorized, Craig added.

The Pacifica City Council held one closed-door meeting with its negotiator before its regular meeting and another one midway Monday.

Meanwhile, Mayor Aubrey Lumley said he would have an announcement at 4 p.m. today, declining to disclose its nature, except that it would concern the two-week-old strike.

Senior Tax Aid Offered

A representative of the state Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance office will make several one-day stops around south San Mateo County this week and next to help senior citizens file claims under the seniors property tax assistance law.

The representative will be at the Redwood City Veterans Memorial Building, 1455 Madison Ave., Redwood City, July 24; the Belmont City Hall council chamber July 31; and San Carlos City Hall Aug. 1. Hours each day will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The law provides for reimbursement of a portion of the property taxes paid by Californians 62 years of age or older as of Jan. 1, 1974, own and reside in their own homes, who have paid the property taxes for the current year and who have income of $10,000 or less. Reimbursements of up to 96 percent are possible, depending on the individual's income.

Narcotics Unit Funds Renewed

The Countywide Narcotics Task Force has won funding for a fourth year during which the unit hopes to "increase the quality of arrests by picking out as targets major commercial dealers of narcotics and dangerous drugs."

That was the report given Wednesday to the Criminal Justice Council of San Mateo County, which ratified a $307,123 grant request made by the Sheriff's Department.

Ratification was necessary to secure the funds, according to Mrs. Anne Taylor, acting executive director.

The 10-man unit was financed, for three years with special state and federal funds, which expired last month. However, the sheriff's office found a new funding source.

Norman Heaps Appointed

New SF State Vice President

A Chicago State University Vice President for Administrative Affairs, Norman L. Heap, 46, has been named San Francisco State's new vice president for Administration it was announced this week by President Paul F. Romberg.

Dr. Heap's appointment is the latest move in President Romberg's overall reorganization plan for the educational institution located near Lake Merced.

Dr. Heap has served at Chicago as a major administrator since November, 1970. He was commended there for his accomplishments in directing the University's move to a new $65,000,000 campus and redirecting the school's purchasing and financing procedures.

Much of Dr. Heap's prior education and vocational activities were attained in Arizona. He is a graduate of Arizona State University where he earned his doctorate in administration in 1970.

He also has served in the Arizona schools at Tucson and Phoenix as a teacher of mathematics. For a time Dr. Heap was the vice-president and general manager of a lumber company in North Carolina before returning to the academic area as a vice president at Norwalk Community College in Connecticut.

Dr. Heap then returned to Arizona to serve Eastern Arizona College at Thatcher where he remained as Vice President for Research, Development and Business Services until 1970 when he again moved east to Chicago State University.

During the early fifties, Dr. Heap at age 24 was commanding officer of the Bismark Air Defense Center.

New Housing Starts Increase During May

Bank of America has reported that new housing starts in California during May increased slightly over April, but predicted totals for the year will lag 15 to 20 per cent behind 1973.

New starts in May stepped up to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 157,000 units from 148,000 units in April.

Actual housing starts for May numbered 15,180 compared to 14,328 in the previous month. Single-unit dwellings comprised more than 54 per cent of the May total.

For the first five months of 1974, actual housing starts of 61,250 units were down 39 per cent from 100,629 for the same period last year.

The sharpest decline was in apartment construction, down more than 50 per cent for the year. Although construction of apartments with five or more units increased from 5,046 in April to 5,639 in May, issuance of permits for this type of construction dropped to 4,263 from 5,713.

Federal Grants to County Companies

Congressman Leo J. Ryan (D-San Mateo County) announced several federal grants and contracts to companies in the county.

The Department of Interior, National Park Service, has awarded a $5,242,262 contract to the S & Q Construction Corporation of South San Francisco for the construction of a regional sewage treatment plant, utilizing mixed activated sludge process, phosphorous removals, chlorinatory, vacuum filtration sludge incineration and percolation ponds at El Portal in Yosemite National Park. "The project will run for 18 months," said Ryan, "and should provide some jobs for San Mateo County workers."

The U.S. Air Force has awarded a contract for $1,322,105 to the Dalmo Victor Corp. of Belmont for radar equipment for various aircraft, including B-52's and F-4 Phantom jets. The work will be done in the Belmont plant, which is a division of Textron, Inc., when the three-week-old IAM strike is settled and the aerospace workers return to their jobs.

The URS Systems Corp. of San Mateo received an Environmental Protection Agency contract award of $169,924 to investigate mercury pollution.

Another Environmental Protection Agency grant for $12,375 was awarded to the Tosi Trading Co. of Burlingame to make a comparison of different methods of tomato peeling (when canning tomatoes or making ketchup) to see which method uses less energy, creates less pollution, and improves the quality of the canned goods.

SSF Plans City-Wide Playday

The South San Francisco Parks and Recreation Dept. is planning the Citywide Playday of 74 July 26 at Orange Park from 10-4 p.m.

This is the day for youngsters to participate in a variety of events: obstacle course, running events, kickball and volleyball games, novelty races, baseball throw for distance and accuracy, football throw for distance and accuracy, softball throw for distance, basketball free throw, bingo and of course the event of the day — the pie-eating contest. Also scheduled will be a baseball and volleyball tournament in the morning.

Children interested in participating in the playday events may obtain information from their recreation leaders or by contacting the Parks and Recreation Department, 873-8000.

Pacifica Increases Sewer Fees

Overriding various objections, particularly from builders, the Pacifica City Council last week voted to raise the sewer connection fees by about 122 per cent.

Purpose of the increase is to help finance any future expansion of the sewer plant.

Objections centered about the danger that such fees would increase the prices of homes, and would frustrate efforts of Pacifica to attract such businessessand commercial recreation uses, which eventually could broaden the city's tax base.

Too high an increase would be self-defeating in that it would result in nothing being collected, Chamber of Commerce and realty representatives pointed out.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

Shakespeare to Brighten Summer

For all the talk out of Britain and excitement over how kinky it might be to see an all male cast perform Shakespeare's melancholy romance, "As You Like It," that is the least of its engrossing and highly inventive assets. Within five minutes of the opening scene, you've dissolved into the wit and brilliance of this much-lauded production that the British National Theater has brought into the Geary Theater for three weeks of mirth and merriment.

American Conservatory Theater has done right by us to sponsor them here. The summer entertainment scene is enormously enriched for it.

Since there is no overt attempt at female impersonation, allowing for the fact that the young British actors are singularly good looking, lean and agile as dancers anyway, by simply robing them in white culotte pajama-like gowns and crowning them with golden corkscrew curly wigs, the effect is total and subtley attractive.

The genious of director Clifford Williams' concept, greatly enhanced by designer Ralp Koltai's plastic tube, trees and dividers, sliding sheets of perforated plastic for a wintery sky and playing areas designated by clear sculptured plexiglass furniture, make this a production you'll not soon forget. That's why it has been in their repertoire for five years and is still their most popular offering.

Williams has drawn all of the underlying sadness and melancholy out of the Bard's comedy, more so than I'd ever remembered it having before. And although all ends well, there is such a plethora of wisdom dispensed about the ways of love and the obstacles of attaining it and maintaining it, that you find yourself sighing between loud laughter. It is a play to be savored and seen because reading it robs it of its rich and ribald sense of intercommunication between people.

The cast is superb. Nothing more or less than excellent. The soft rock score composed by Marc Wilkinson and played by a live band backstage further adds to the timelessness of its message.

Tall, self-possessed and speaking in a well modulated voice that is neither masculine nor feminine is Gregory Floy as Rosalind, the banished maiden who, with her scampish and playful cousin Celia (David Schofield), set off with the court jester (most commendably played as a circus clown by Nigel Hawthorne) to the Forest of Arden.

Amazing how the lines so clearly indicate that boys were meant to play the girls when matters of double identity, matchmaking and jealousy come up in the dialogue. The intrigue and villainy take on a clarification under the polished command of this worthy troupe.

There are some offbeat angles, such as the clown setting up a tripod camera to take flash pictures during a soliloquy and a rousing wrestling match staged on a large grey mat between the boyishly appealing Orlando (Paul Hastings) and John Flint with broad flashes of Kung Fu tactics, and a Little Richard-type rock and roll screamer in gold satin brocade suit and orange spun glass natural-Afro wig delivering a wild eulogy at the end.

But the ring and cadence of Shakespeare's poetry is not forsaken in the slightest by this unique and free style approach. The tone of the setting and costumes is grey, white, black, ocre and cream. Much of the costuming is in shiny plastic material (the wet look of two seasons ago) so that the use of sunglasses on many of the players is not a fashion feature as much as a prop to establish the character's personality.

Some of the scenes are tender as when Orlando begs food for his ailing manservant (Blake Butler). When John Nettleton as the phlegmatic and sardonic Jaques, a lord attending the exiled Duke, speaks the famous "All The World's A Stage and All the Men and Women Merely Players" the speech is succinctly gentle and full of sweetness.

But laughter is the keynote and the two other men masquerading as girls, Christopher Neame as Phebe, a shepherdess, and Gorden Kaye as Audrey, a country girl, provide more than a fair share of the burlesque.

Do make an effort to go. The company is well worth seeing and the production as imaginative and viable as any Shakespeare you'll ever encounter.

Rumor

Things you may or may not have known about the Giants: The rumor is that Chris Speier may be the Giants' third baseman next year, with Mike Phillips at short. Speier has lost a little zing from his arm, perhaps a half step or so in range. Phillips right now is smoother, has more range, gets rid of the ball faster, and has probably as good an arm. . . .

Now the secret is out. Randy Moffitt, as has already been publicized, didn't have an appendicitis attack in San Diego, nor the flu or anything else more mysterious than common constipation. . . .

Lew Fonseca, one of baseball's most respected batting instructors, after having spent weeks working with Dave Kingman, has come to the conclusion, say the insiders, that Kingman, an intelligent lad with a college degree, either won't take or can't absorb batting instruction. . . .

Too bad the Giants couldn't afford Dick Williams. Perhaps the reason can best be summed up in a vignette emanating from the Oakland locker room last year, as reported to us by a member of the Alameda park commission who was touring the stadium one morning and happened upon the open clubhouse door. Standing just inside the door, oblivious of the visitor was Williams with a black player who the commissioner member — not an expert fan — believes may have been Billy North. But who the player was is really irrelevant. What is relevant is the one-sided conversation which took place, as carried on by Williams.

"Now, look, you SOB, if I ever catch you not putting out again, I'm going to kick your (part of anatomy) around the block, and then if that doesn't work, I'm going to kick it right off the club. . . ."

A little (part of the anatomy) kicking may be what the Giants are REALLY lacking.

That kind of discipline might have kept a 24 game winner off a diving board at midnight during spring training. And it makes one wonder if professional athletes really SHOULD have the right to eliminate disciplines such as bed checks from their training. One can sympathize with their needs not to be treated like children, but on the other hand when they DO act like children and jeopardize their own careers and the seasons of teammates and owners with such frivilous acts, then it makes one wonder whether these playful kids in the bodies of adults could handle complete freedom.

WYAT'S THAT OLD maxim? Something to the effect that an athlete's personal life shouldn't be the business of management unless it affects his work? Well, such things as boozing or doping or falling off diving boards certainly DOES affect a man's work, and perhaps, regrettably, such activities should be regulated in some way by management.

One man who could probabwy never be completely regulated by management is like Mike Marshall, the Dodger Wonderman. As you probably know, Marshall doesn't pay much attention to conventions. One of them he ignores is the time-honored practice of wearing a sweatshirt under the regular baseball shirt. He never did it even in chilly Montreal. Dodger management frowned on it when he first reportd, but Marshall, a serious student of Kinesiology

Skyline Names New Coach

Lyle C. Newcomer, Jr., one of the outstanding high school basketball coaches in California, has been named Skyline College's new varsity basketball coach beginning with the coming '74-'75 season, SC President John Petersen announced.

Along with this post he will be a full-time physical education instructor at the college. Newcomer moves into the new position vacated by Walt Rilliet who will devote full-time as the college's director of athletics and physical education division chairman.

The Trojans' new coach is ranked one of the bright new cage tutors in California having been recommended by such national ranked and winning university division coaches as John Wooden of UCLA, Bob Boyd of University of Southern California, and Paul Rundell, San Francisco State University Director of Athletics and former San Francisco State coach from the Far Western Conference and college division regional champions.

Newcomer arrives on the SC campus with an over-all coaching record of 194 wins and 86 losses and a 99 win and 66 defeat total at Miraleste High School (Palo Verdes, Cal.) where he has been a teacher and coach since 1968. He took the Miraleste teams from a 7 win and 19 loss mark to four successive California Interscholastic Federation playoffs.

He has not had a losing season since the 1968 campaign.

In 1970-71 the Miraleste quintet took the Pioneer League title and has been in second place twice and third place once in that conference.

Aside from the coaching duties, Newcomer has been involved in the school's planning and implementation of a completely co-educational physical education program.

Summer Recreation Activities

Broom Hockey Gets Underway

The brooms flew as this season's first floor hockey game was underway, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

It was a close game in the new Westlake Community Center Gym, even up to the last few seconds. Yet when the pressure was on, George Vanderhoof's team proved to be victorious over Don Lombardo's team with a score of 3-2.

There were good shots, successful and unsuccessful, throughout the game. Lombardo's team tried to get that last point within the last quarter, but with the aid of Pete Nielsen, Frank Cecena, Jack Fabriquesand Laura deGhetaldi, Vanderhoof's bombers won. This week's "good try award" goes to Don Lombardo and his team Janet Aguilera, Jody Buttram, Dennis Flannery, Amy Schwimmer and Debbie Mosk.

Those interested in playing floor hockey, should note that games will be held each Friday at noon in the gym.

Broom hockey and softball were the most popular activities at Gallert Park this past week.

Mike Kennedy and Joe Latorre were the hockey stars. Outstanding in softball were Dave Ashmore, Bobby Martinez and Mike Moglelahe.

The shuffle board courts have been filled all week with the games being close and exciting. Darryl Ashmore and Larry Ferez were picked by their opponents as the top shuffle board players. Kevin Walen and Fernando Pennes can always be found practicing at the Horseshoe Pits.

The second week of competition saw some new names among the weekly champions at F. D. Roosevelt. Sammy Hernandez was the over-all free-throw champ as well as best in the fifth and sixth grade civision with an impressive 8 hoops out of 10 attempts.

Other participants in this division were Norman Thompson, Vincent Isom, Darryl Perry and Tony Lewis. Sammy also took first in carroms and checkers giving him the first "Triple Crown" of the summer. Among other participants were Tammy Thompson, Jim Pierce and Roy White.

In the third and fourth grade division a tie for first in free-throws was shared between Stephanie Sutti and Tony Basso who bested Jimmy Pierce and Tammy Thompson. John Snowgrass came in first, with John Profeit taking second in the seventh and eighth division free-throw contest.

As an added attraction, F.D.R. held its first short and long distance foot races. Among those burning up the track were Darryl Jones, Mark Tessum, Jackie Thompson and Peanut Slarrbourough. Other runners working on their speed were Andrea Daniel, Tony Lewis, Tammy Thompson, Stephanie Sutti, Donald Jones, John Snowgrass, Sam Hernandez, Curtis Michaels, Darryl Wright and Jim Pierce.

Things have really started to "happen" at Colma School playground with lots of activities. A recent volleyball game saw lots of excitement. Participants included Dennis O'Shea, Robert and Richard Bortoli, Eddie and Norman Blandina, Yolanda and Chela Gomez, Lefty Martinez, Frank Burk and last but not least "Hammerin" Chuck Simon.

A lot of baseball action also has been at "Colmastick Park" with Nat Sangiacano, Earl "Bubba" Woods, Greg Zanders, "Ron the Con" Bradford, Gino Canepa, Nisky Huertas and Julio Bulnes doing the slugging.

A wiffle-ball tournament, a bike rodeo and a carroms tournament are on the drawing board.

Daniel Webster opened its softball season with a double win over Westmoor Park. Pete Martin and Mike Montaque sparked the hitting for Daniel Webster by driving in four runs each. Daniel Webster Softball Team hopes to place high in the city wide tournament.

According to Art Hermasello, recreation leader, highlighting the activities at Serramonte High School last week were a ping pong tournament and two touch football games.

Leading the way in ping pong for the eleventh and under grade level was first place winner Barbara Madrieres. Second place went t Rich Pult, third place winner was Mike Scheffler.

Also participating in the ping pong tournament were Jon Pult, Jon Madrieres, Nick Ciolino and Brenda Calabrio.

In the ping pong tournament for the 12 and over age level, Dan Khorge was the first place winner. He outdistanced second place winner Kelley Madrieres. Third place went to Mary Pult. Other participants were Sheila Calabrio, Liz Pult, Keith Pult, Karen Madrieres and Mike Madrieres.

Rounding out the week of activities were two touch football games. In the first game the team of Barbara Madrieres, Jon Pult, Gainna Calabrio, and Nick Ciolino defeated the team of Pat Shockley, Jon Madrieres, Brenda Calabrio, and Jon Mignosa. For the winners Barbara Madrieres scored three touchdowns while Jon Pult and Nick Ciolino each scored two touchdowns. For the losers Jon Madrieres had two touchdowns, one on a long pass from John Mignosa. Also Brenda Calabrio and Pat Shockley scored one touchdown each.

Nastase, Smith In Palace Net

Romania's Ilie Nastase, America's Stan Smith and Tom Okker of The Netherlands have signed to play in the $100,000 Fireman's Fund International Open Tennis Championships, Sept. 23-30 at the Cow Palace, according to tournament director Barry MacKay.

Teen Club Softball Tourney Set

The Daly City Jr. Teen Clubs annual softball tournament will be held at Westlake Park July 27.

Teams from the Telstars (Westmoor area), Castaways (Serramonte), Casualiers (Colma), and Imperials (Bayshore) will compete from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. in the tourney.

The day will include plenty of co-rec softball action as well as special noontime races and contests, and a big watermelon feed at the end of the day.

The Daly City Champions will meet the Pacifica Champs in the Second Annual Championship playoff, August 2, at Westmoor Park. A barbeque and dance is planned after the big game. Last year's champs, the Telstars, snaked by an unsuspecting Pacifica team for a last inning 13-12 victory to claim the perpetual trophy.

TRAINING

Susan K. Yoshimoto, daughter of Alice Layson, 1638 South Grant, San Mateo, has joined the Aerospace team as a professional member of the U.S. Air Force. Susan is presently in the Delayed Enlistment Program awaiting orders to report for transitional training at San Antonio, Texas.

During her Air Force enlistment, Susan will learn the valuable skills in the mechanical aptitude area.

Sergeant Ron Arambula, Air Force representative at 1711 El Camino Real, San Mateo, added that many exciting opportunities exist for young people in the modern Air Force

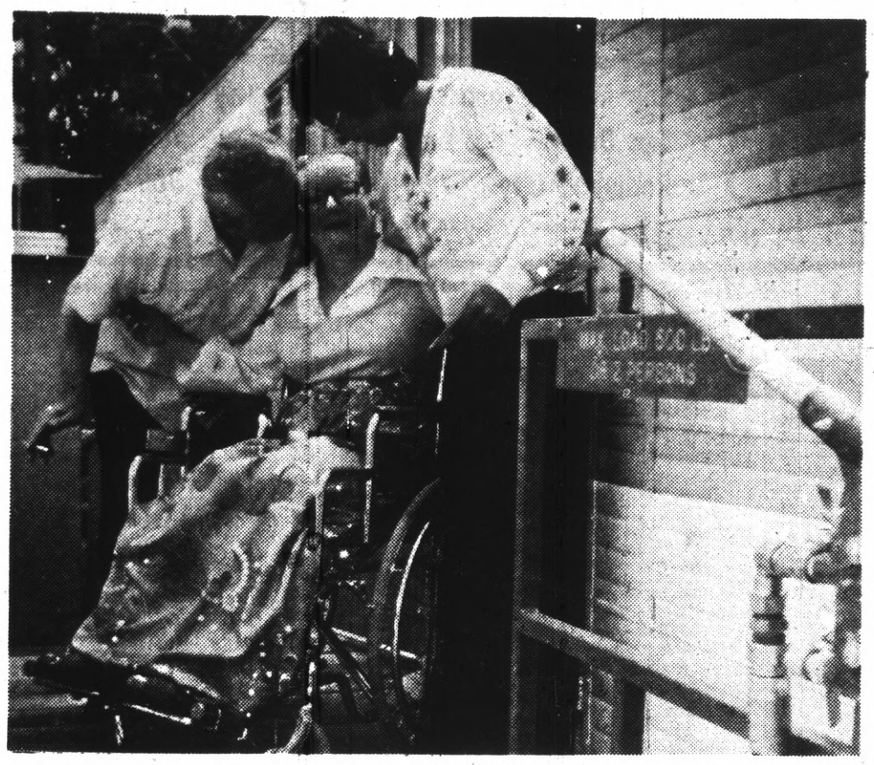
Invalid Gets a Big Lift



HOMECOMING

Mrs. Charlotte Jackson, 57, paralyzed for two years, now is able to come home because four Stanford students built a mechanical hoist to raise her in her wheelchair to the door of her mobile home. She gets a hug and a kiss from her husband Maurice, and one of the students, Miss Ila Montalvo Roel of Lima, Peru.

By VERA GRAHAM

The students got an "A" — and the plucky lady got a big welcome home hug and kiss from her husband.

Without the students' help, it would have been impossible.

Friday afternoon Charlotte Jackson, 57, the lady who has been putting up a determined two-year-long battle against partial paralysis, made it home.

And she did it all by herself, thanks to four Stanford engineering students, their professor and her physical therapist.

The students designed and built a special mechanical hoist, needed by Mrs. Jackson to be able to raise herself in a wheelchair to the elevated door of her mobile home at the Meadowbrook Mobile Home Manor, 7880 El Camino Real, Colma.

Friday was the first day since Christmas that she was able to come home. Previously she and her wheelchair had to be carried into the trailer.

"Now," said Charlotte Jackson, "I can truly be independent — just about." A reticent woman, she found it almost too much to be surrounded by television crews, news reporters and her delighted neighbors. But, she said, "Truly this is the happiest day of my life . . . It wouldn't have been possible without my wonderful physical therapist, Pat Frischetti, professor Ernest Chilton, and those four generous young people."

Mrs. Fischetti had tried every possible source to get the $900 needed for a mechanical hoist — and was turned down everywhere. Finally, several months ago, she connected with Chilton, who was looking for some likely projects for his class. He became interested and submitted the idea to his class.

Four students seized upon the challenge — Miss Ila Montalvo Roel of Lima, Peru, the only girl in the engineering class; Gordon Kimball of Santa Paula, Michael Kast of San Rafael and William Rorke of Seattle.

The students had to dig into their own lean pockets to pony up the $260 it cost to build the hoist. People learning of the project so far have contributed about $100 to help defray the costs. The students aren't wealthy, it was explained, and in accordance with tradition are making it on the proverbial shoestring.

Pat Frischetti and Chilton expressed a hope that people may make up the remaining $160 difference. Those who wish to do so may send contributions to the Charlotte Jackson Fund, 301 Engina Hall, Stanford University, Stanford, Ca., 94305.

Should the fund be oversubscribed, the remaining sum will be used for future similar student projects, the professor said.

Mrs. Jackson was an active, busy housewife until October 4, 1972. At that time she developed a blood clot about mid-chest — and became paralyzed.

Her husband, Maurice, was overcome with emotion Friday as he talked about his wife's courage. He turned away fighting back tears as he said, "She's the brave one . . . she's the one who has helped keep me going . . ." Jackson himself is recovering from surgery.

As Mrs. Jackson moved her wheelchair to the hoist, Professor Chilton said, "I kept getting a terrible thought on the way up that something might go wrong and the hoist wouldn't work."

Speaking with pride of his students Chilton added, "More girls should go into engineering . . . When they are interested and good, they make the best engineers." Only Miss Roel was able to attend the homecoming.

Everyone held their breath as Charlotte Jackson maneuvered her wheelchair, guiding it onto the platform of the hoist.

She reached behind to buckle the safety belt and then began pumping the lever. It worked.

Maurice Jackson proudly said, "You know, what Charlotte has done would have made many another curl up their toes. I know I would . . . My brother, who's a doctor said to her, 'Charlotte, you're a tough—and brave lady' . . . It's true, I get my courage from her. She keeps me going."

Chilton, hovering around the hoist and Mrs. Jackson, said a minor adjustment would be made to move the pump handle making it easier to move the mechanism. "Everytime she pumps, she raises the equivalent of 400 pounds," he adds.

"Yes," he confirmed, "my students did get an 'A' for the project. It was well-deserved."

The project not only inspired the students but the Malcolm Drilling Co. of Redwood City, which donated the manpower needed to dig a five-foot deep hole in which the understructure of the hoist is buried.

And, as if Pat Frischetti, who is a major source of inspiration and courage in turn for Charlotte Jackson hasn't done enough, she and her husband built the broad wooden porch to which the hoist moves the wheelchair. Mrs. Frischetti grinned, "My husband built it, and then we discovered we couldn't open the door . . . so he had to take it apart and redo it — but it was worth every bit of the time and effort."

To build the hoist, Chilton said the students scrounged around, found a second hand aircraft hoist in a junkyard, haunted other places for other needed pipes and hoses, pieces of mechanism. They bought the pump for $150.

The Jackson's neighbors stood in an admiring and happy ring as Charlotte moved the hoist up and down, wheeled in and out of the doorway for the benefit of TV news cameras. "I'm a nervous wreck," she finally breathed as the last one moved off.

Jackson said, "I want you to know that it was also these grand neighbors of ours that have kept our spirits up and helped with such kindness." Among those named were Mrs. Eve Mobley, Mrs. Bea Perry, Mrs. Carmen Montalbo. The professor's wife Nancy was also on hand to share her husband's delight and pride in his students' generous achievement.

Though Friday was a trial run for Charlotte Jackson, since she needs more therapy, from now on she'll be pretty independent.

"I can cook, sew and wash dishes," she said with obvious delight not often exhibited by a housewife.

"It's good to be home," she smiled.

'At Home' Fiesta Theme

By IVA NEWMAN

The San Mateo County Fair has no equal anywhere when it comes to the lavish display of plants and flowers. The theme this year, "At Home — Fair Time Is Happy Time," could not be more appropriate. Flowers are big business in San Mateo County. Flowers grown here are shipped all over the nation to supply florists' shops and to make life brighter and happier. The Fair is the one chance each year for growers to show off their flowers and their growing ability.

Professional growers are not the only ones that grasp happily at the opportunity to display the flowers and plants that they grow. Home owners and those who rent homes with space for a garden love to compare the results of their skill with that of their neighbors and other home gardeners in the county. Some of these home gardeners have told us that their prize monies help to pay for the water and fertilizer needed to bring their plants to perfection. Others have told us that they use the money they win to buy a plant, bulb or some garden tool a little out of reach of their budget. The Fiesta gives many people many things.

The outdoor gardens are my first love. For several years I was chairman of the outdoor garden exhibit for the San Mateo County Rose Society. You learn a lot when you put in one of these gardens that helps you in your own garden. If you know nothing about design or perspective when you start you will when you finish. The Rose Society had to grow its display roses and bring them into bloom in time for the judging. Other groups had to do the same thing with the plants they were using in their displays, and swapping information with other exhibitors makes the tasks exciting fun as well as educational.

Nine Amateur Gardens

Because of lack of space the Fair can have only nine amateur gardens, three in each category. There is no lack of applications for these spaces from the garden clubs in the county. Some clubs appoint members who they think are most qualified to do this kind of a job. The Garden Study Club of the Peninsula, however, allots the job to its provisionals as a way to help these new members to get acquainted. This year this club has drawn the theme, "A Bit of the Orient," which calls for a Tori Gate and a reflecting pool. Their competitors will be the San Mateo Junior Woman's Club, and the Daly City Garden Club.

The second theme is "Cool and Lovely." The schedule gives no qualifying suggestions so the entrants are on their own in trying to convince the judges their design best depicts the theme. Competing in this class are the San Carlos Junior Women's Club, the Belmont Woman's Club and the San Mateo Garden Center.

The third theme is "Call of the Islands." This calls for an Hawaiian Garden. We have been to Hawaii several times and were delighted with the tropical plants home gardeners grew out in their gardens as easily as we grow petunias. Competing in this class are the Pacific Flower Friends, San Bruno Women's City Club and the Menlo Park Woman's Club.

It will be most exciting to see how these clubs handle their assignments. We know from experience that they won't be able to get all of the plant materials they would wish for but plants they use to give the effects they desire will help visitors to get a similar effect in their own garden.

Premiums for these amateur gardens are $380, $350 and $320. It costs about half or a little more of the premium to put in a garden even when all of the labor is free. The money raised is generally used for club projects such as civic beautification, scholarship, flower workshops and other community programs.

Little Theatre Programs

Another educational factor of the fair is the programs put on in the "Little Theatre." Every afternoon and evening lectures and demonstrations will take place in the large area in the southeast area of the big floral building, known as the "Little Theatre." The different flower societies give talks on their particular flower and flower arrangement demonstrations are given. On Sunday, Aug. 4, the San Mateo Branch of the Japanese Ikenobo Ikebana School will fill the area with different types of Japanese arrangements and will give demonstrations at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. They will also have hostesses on hand all day to answer questions on the arrangements by Fair visitors.

DISPLAY CLASSIFIED 721—MILLBRAE

The best view in this $80,000 neighborhood costs $57,500.

And you can purchase it at 8-3/4%.* Impossible? Not now, but it soon will be as these three bedroom view condominiums atop the Mills Estate property will probably be sold out within a month. The reason—everything is here except the high price tag.

The view is the best on the North Peninsula. Your private balcony gives you a panoramic view of the Peninsula and San Francisco Bay. Above it all, and close to everything. Easy access to Highways 101, 280, and the train station make commuting a snap.

The space inside is as beautiful as the space outside. Plush carpeting, draperies, oven, range, refrigerator, washer/dryer, dishwasher, and fireplace are all included. The recreation center, swimming pool, and saunas are ready for summer.

The time to move up to Millbrae Heights is now. When these are sold, that's it. Three bedrooms, two baths, from $57,500. Ready for immediate occupancy.

Vote Sought on Harbor District

Councilmen from seven cities Thursday night approved a resolution asking the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to place the Harbor District dissolution on the ballot.

Meeting in San Bruno was the North County Council of Cities.

Supervisor Bob St. Clair asked the group not to vote on the resolution, introduced by San Bruno Councilman George Corey. St. Clair announced he had just written letters to every city in the county asking them to adopt a formal resolution giving its position on dissolution of the Harbor District.

San Bruno Councilman John Barnard charged that the letters were a "put-on".

"You'd have to be the dumbest politician in the world," he declared, "to think that people would vote to tax themselves for something that only three or four people in town would benefit from."

"That's a lot of baloney!" St. Clair roared back.

Corey said that action by the North County Council of Cities would not preclude each individual city from adopting its own resolution, since the NCCC met regularly, and had a life of its own.

Main opposition to the resolution came from Pacifica and South San Francisco, both of which had received aid from the harbor district to enable them to make harbor feasibility studies for their own cities. Pacifica Mayor Aubrey Lumley moved to table the resolution, and it was seconded by Daly City Councilman Victor Kyriakis.

This left Daly City split, since its only other councilman present, Bill Schumacher, seconded Corey's resolution, on the grounds that "I've always believed in abolishing special districts."

A vote to table the resolution failed.

In other action, Assemblyman Lou Papan announced that through the efforts of Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, Sen. Arlen Gregorio, and himself, there will be a measure on the ballot to create a special district — the San Mateo County Transit District.

Papan said that the governor is not expected to veto the new transit bill, which would authorize the Board of Supervisors to put formation of the district on the ballot. Any hookup with BART or a levying of property tax would require additional elections.

Papan also discussed AB 2020, a proposed regional government bill which would create a Bay Area government including both elected and appointed officials.
